Elsa Joubert's The Long Journey of Poppie Nongena ,1981 Trauma, Memory, and Narrative in the Contemporary South African Novel ,2012-01-01 The contributions to this volume probe the complex relationship of trauma memory and narrative By looking at the South African situation through the lens of trauma they make clear how the psychic deformations and injuries left behind by racism and colonialism cannot be mended by material reparation or by simply reversing economic and political power structures Western trauma theories as developed by scholars such as Caruth van der Kolk Herman and others are insufficient for analysing the more complex situation in a postcolony such as South Africa This is because Western trauma concepts focus on the individual traumatized by a single identifiable event that causes PTSD Post Traumatic Stress Disorder What we need is an understanding of trauma that sees it not only as a result of an identifiable event but also as the consequence of an historical condition in the case of South Africa that of colonialism and more specifically of apartheid For most black and coloured South Africans the structural violence of apartheid s laws were the existential condition under which they had to exist The living conditions in the townships pass laws relocation and racial segregation affected great parts of the South African population and were responsible for the collective traumatization of several generations This trauma however is not an unclaimed and unclaimable experience Postcolonial thinkers who have been reflecting on the experience of violence and trauma in a colonial context writing from within a Fanonian tradition have on the contrary believed in the importance of reclaiming the past and of transcending mechanisms of victimization and resentment so typical of traumatized consciousnesses Narration and the novel have a decisive role to play here Notes Munger Africana Library,1980

Munger Africana Library Notes ,1981 Selves in Question Judith Lutge Coullie,Stephan Meyer,Thengani H. Ngwenya,Thomas Olver,2006-05-31 Wide ranging and engaging Selves in Question considers the various ways in which auto biographical accounts situate and question the self in contemporary southern Africa The twenty seven interviews presented here consider both the ontological status and the representation of the self They remind us that the self is constantly under construction in webs of interlocution and that its status and representation are always in question The contributors therefore look at ways in which auto biographical practices contribute to placing understanding and troubling the self and selves in postcolonies in the current global constellation They examine topics such as the contexts conducive to production processes the contents and forms of auto biographical accounts and finally their impact on the producers and the audience In doing so they map out a multitude of variables including the specific historical juncture geo political locations social positions cultures languages generations and genders in their relations to auto biographical practices Those interviewed include the famous and the hardly known women and men writers and performers who communicate in a variety of languages Afrikaans English Xhosa isiZulu Sesotho and Yiddish An extensive introduction offers a general framework on the contestation of self through auto biography a historical overview of auto biographical representation in South Africa up to the present time an outline of
