Assessment of Reading in International Studies Jenny Lenkeit, Knut Schwippert, 2020-05-21 This book brings together contributions from different scholarly contexts that address a diverse range of focused topics as well as empirical and conceptual perspectives on research with international studies Some chapters focus on technical aspects exploring opportunities for drawing causal inferences from the data and investigating biases originating in distributional scale properties Others are of a more conceptual nature addressing changes in the relevance of socio economic indicators across time and countries examining the exposure of mother tongue and English instruction on performance and investigating the effects of test construction on gender difference The discussion takes a much needed meta perspective on the usefulness of international large scale assessments for educational research and allows reflection upon possibilities and opportunities for their improvement This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education Text Variability

Measures in Corpus Design for Setswana Lexicography Thapelo J. Otlogetswe, 2011-01-18 This book is about the design of a Setswana corpus for lexicography While various corpora have been compiled and a variety of corpora based research has been attempted in African languages no effort has been made towards corpus design Additionally although extensive analysis of the Setswana language has been done by missionaries grammarians and linguists since the 1800s none of this research is in corpus design Most research has been largely on the grammatical study of the language The recent corpora research in African languages in general has been on the use of corpora for the compilation of dictionaries and little of it is in corpus design Pioneers of this kind of corpora research in African languages are Prinsloo and De Schryver 1999 De Schryver and Prinsloo 2000 and 2001 and Gouws and Prinsloo 2005 Because of a lack of research in corpora design particularly in African languages this book attempts to fill that gap especially for Setswana It is hoped that the finding of this study will inspire similar designs in other languages comparable to Setswana We explore corpus design by focusing on measuring a variety of text types for lexical richness at comparable token points The study explores the question of whether a corpus compiled for lexicography must comprise a variety of texts drawn from different text types or whether the quality of retrieved information for lexicographic purposes from a corpus comprising diverse text varieties could be equally extracted from a corpus with a single text type This study therefore determines whether linguistic variability is crucial in corpus design for lexicography

My Own Liberator Dikgang Moseneke, 2016-10-01 A powerful memoir of activism dedication and a life committed to justice and equality in apartheid era South Africa My Own Liberator spans some eight decades and sheds light on a remarkable and distinguished life as well as on the history of South Africa and leading figures in changing times to paint a compelling double portrait of the author's personal life and the history of South Africa's journey from apartheid to democracy SALA citation The first of a two part memoir the former deputy chief justice writes movingly of the many people who influenced him on the road to becoming one of the most respected legal minds in South Africa Tymon Smith The Times

Justice Dikgang Moseneke's biography My Own Liberator is a welcome instalment in the increasing body of African literature and biographies. Through this book he has allowed us a sneak preview of his still incomplete life and this book is recommended for its wit, depth and lucidity. Thami Ka Plaatjie, Sunday Independent Dispatches a beautiful memoir that is simultaneously poignant and enthralling. My Own Liberator charts a life from Pretoria's version of Sophiatown, Lady Selborne to Atteridgeville, Robben Island as South Africa's youngest political prisoner, lawyer, silk and finally, after becoming acclaimed one of our most revered jurists ever, Kevin Ritchie, Weekend Argus. In My Own Liberator, Dikgang Moseneke pays homage to the many people and places that have helped to define and shape him. Tracing his ancestry, the influence on both his maternal and paternal sides is evident in the values they imbued in their children: the importance of family, the value of hard work and education, an uncompromising moral code, compassion for those less fortunate and an unflinching refusal to accept an unjust political regime or acknowledge its oppressive laws. As a young activist in the Pan Africanist Congress at the tender age of fifteen, Moseneke was arrested, detained and in 1963 sentenced to ten years on Robben Island for participating in anti-apartheid activities. Physical incarceration, harsh conditions and inhumane treatment could not imprison the political prisoner's mind; however, and for many, the Island became a school, not only in politics but an opportunity for dedicated study, formal and informal. It set the young Moseneke on a path towards a law degree that would provide the bedrock for a long and fruitful legal career and see him serve his country in the highest court. My Own Liberator charts Moseneke's rise as one of the country's top legal minds who not only helped to draft the interim constitution but for fifteen years acted as a guardian of that constitution for all South Africans, helping to make it a living document for the country and its people. Winner of the Creative Non-Fiction Award at the 2017 South African Literary Awards, SALA shortlisted for the 2017 Sunday Times Alan Paton Award and shortlisted for the 2018 Humanities and Social Sciences Award for Best Non-Fiction Monograph, this memoir is a testament to the power of perseverance, principle and the pursuit of justice. Talking Freedom, Karsten Legère, Sandra Fitchat, Femi Akindele, 2002. Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary Schools: A Research-Based Approach, Cekiso, Madoda, Olifant, Florence, Mokhtari, Kouider, 2025-04-23. Teaching reading comprehension to English learners (ELs) in secondary schools presents unique challenges as these students must navigate the complexities of academic texts and the intricacies of language acquisition. Effective instruction requires a research-based approach that considers the diverse linguistic, cultural and cognitive backgrounds of these learners. Recent studies highlight the importance of integrating strategies that build both language proficiency and content knowledge, essential for helping ELs develop the skills needed to comprehend complex materials. Fostering metacognitive awareness through strategies like summarizing, questioning and making connections can empower students to become active and strategic readers. This approach recognizes the need for a supportive, inclusive classroom environment that encourages language development while promoting academic achievement in content areas. Further research may help educators provide English learners with the tools to thrive as capable readers in secondary school Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary School A Research Based Approach explores various aspects of teaching reading comprehension to English Second Language ESL learners in secondary schools It examines current challenges and evidence based strategies in reading comprehension This book covers topics such as language learning reading strategies and teacher training and is a useful resource for academicians researchers and scientists

'Along the Routes to Power' Martin Pütz, Joshua A. Fishman, JoAnne Neff-van Aertselaer, 2011-12-22 The present volume grew out of the 30th International LAUD Symposium held on April 19 22 2004 at the University of Koblenz Landau in Landau Germany The conference Empowerment through Language was centrally concerned with the concept of power and or empowerment as observed in the status and use of language s and their speakers in bilingual and multilingual communities The book discusses the theoretical issues inherent in the relation between language and power the empowerment strategies involved in language policy and language planning situations and the issue of language endangerment in Africa i e the fate of minority languages and their speakers and the sociopolitical factors perpetuating their exclusion from access to knowledge and skills The volume constitutes a collection of papers by prominent linguists from many countries who explore the exciting interdisciplinary area of language power and linguistic empowerment Broadly speaking the papers focus on the theoretical and sociolinguistic problems related to the role of power in language policy and language planning situations in multilingual settings language choices code switches and associated topics Thus the aim of the volume is to open up language policy and language planning issues as observed in multilingual contexts nations institutions other settings and domains to the wider community of critical sociolinguistics by concentrating on the relationship between language and power More particularly it offers a decidedly sociolinguistic perspective to the study of language and power which likewise has been tackled from other perspectives in the areas of sociology and political science This interdisciplinary relationship is important both for linguistics and for the sociology of language In this way the book is an important contribution to general linguistics sociolinguistics minority issues in multilingual settings as well as the social sciences In honor of his upcoming 80th birthday 2006 Fishman's colleagues and former students are preparing five volumes by him or about him this being one of them

English a Changing Medium for Education Constant Leung, Brian V. Street, 2012-07-25 In this volume a range of authors from different international contexts argue that the notion of communicative competence in English hitherto largely referenced to metropolitan native speaker norms has to be expanded to take account of diverse contexts of use for a variety of purposes It also discusses the popular belief that language and literacy should simply be regarded as a technical skill which confers universal benefits and that it should be replaced with a social practice view that recognises situated variations and diversity This volume we believe provides a reference point for extended research and practice in these areas that will be of interest to wide range of people engaged in language and literacy education
