

HOW TO WRITE A JOURNAL RESPONSE

What is a Journal Response?

A journal response explains why you found the parts of the essay to be important or interesting. Students ask questions about the reading, they wonder about the reading, or they explain it or relate to it in some way. Whatever you do, DO NOT SIMPLY SUMMARIZE the contents of the essay. Go beyond it somehow, analyze it, offer thoughts about why it seems important to you. In essence, by writing about the importance of one or more passages in the essay, you will give it meaning—and that is what reading is all about! The quality of your thinking and the energy with which you attempt to analyze your reading are the most important in this assignment.

How Do I Get Started?

A journal response starts with reading. As you read, mark the text. Underline or highlight the parts that stand out to you as interesting, important, puzzling, confusing, funny or powerful. Not all readers will mark the same parts when they read because not all parts have the same importance to every reader. Your gender, your past experiences, your cultural experiences and many other factors will influence what you find important in a text.

What Parts Do I Mark?

Readers mark various parts of their texts for various reasons. You might mark the following parts of your text:

- The names of people/character, places and important events;
- Parts of the essay that remind you of personal experiences in your own life;
- Statements in the text that you disagree with or that make you angry or sad;
- Parts of the text that are confusing or problematic (this can include not only ideas but words you do not know—look them up in the dictionary);
- Parts of the text that relate to other parts of the text.
- Parts of the text that relate to a newspaper or magazine article, something you saw on TV, on the Internet, in a book or a source you looked up in the library about the topic.
