

SONNET 18

William Shakespeare 1564 - 1616

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate.
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date.
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimmed;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course, untrimmed;
But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wand'rest in his shade,
When in eternal lines to Time thou grow'st.
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

The Art of Shakespeare's Sonnets Helen Vendler, 1997 In detailed commentaries on Shakespeare's 154 sonnets Vendler reveals previously unperceived imaginative and stylistic features of the poems pointing out not only new levels of import in particular lines but also the ways in which the four parts of each sonnet work together to enact emotion and create dynamic effect The commentaries presented alongside the complete text of each poem as printed in the 1609 edition and in a modernized version offer fresh perspectives on the individual poems and taken together provide a full picture of Shakespeare's techniques as a working poet With the help of Vendler's acute eye we gain an appreciation of Shakespeare's elated variety of invention his ironic capacity his astonishing refinement of technique and above all the reach of his skeptical imaginative intent Vendler's understanding of the sonnets informs her readings on an accompanying compact disk which is bound with the book This recorded presentation of a selection of the poems in giving aural form to Shakespeare's words heightens our awareness of voice in lyric and adds the dimension of sound to poems too often registered merely as written words
