The Mourning After Neil Edward Brooks, Josh Toth, 2007 Have we moved beyond postmodernism Did postmodernism lose its oppositional value when it became a cultural dominant While focusing on questions such as these the articles in this collection consider the possibility that the death of a certain version of postmodernism marks a renewed attempt to re negotiate and perhaps re embrace many of the cultural literary and theoretical assumptions that postmodernism seemingly denied outright Including contributions from some of the leading scholars in the field N Katherine Hayles John D Caputo Paul Maltby Jane Flax among others this collection

ultimately comes together to perform a certain work of mourning Through their explorations of this current epistemological shift in narrative and theoretical production these articles work to get over postmodernism while simultaneously celebrating a certain postmodern inheritance an inheritance that can offer us important avenues to understanding and affecting contemporary culture and society

British Asian Fiction Neil Murphy, Wai-chew Sim, 2008 In this outstanding collection of essays editors Neil Murphy and Wai chew Sim seek not so much to demarcate the field of British Asian fiction but to offer due acknowledgment of the artistic merit of the works of selected authors and simultaneously register their cultural significance This volume demonstrates in situ the virtues of commentary that engages in a substantial manner with formal and aesthetic considerations even as it implicates the discourses of alterity that dominate contemporary cultural criticism Additionally the essays delineate the complex subject positions explored by authors and texts and focus on the way writers negotiate the exigencies of their location within and between different social formations If it is the case that British literature can no longer be discussed in monocultural terms because of the impact of the writers under consideration it is also the case that the diverse trans cultural positions they explore are often less specified than proclaimed Addressing difference commensurability and form related notions of truth content these essays enlarge our understanding of the range of British and affiliated identities as well as the cultural contexts from which they arose Working as academics and critics from Singapore a useful vantage point Murphy and Sim have extended the parameters of British Asian to include not just writers from South Asia as is traditionally the case but writers whose parents or who themselves have migrated to Britain from other regions of Asia for example Japan Hong Kong and Malaysia This initiative has made it possible for professors Murphy and Sim to bring together first an interestingly varied group of authors among them those who came to prominence in the 1980s Salman Rushdie Timothy Mo Kazuo Ishiguro as well as their younger contemporaries Meera Syal Romesh Gunasekera Monica Ali Hari Kunzru Ooi Yang May and second a broad and diverse range of novels that span Timothy Mo's Sour Sweet 1982 and Tariq Ali's A Sultan in Palermo 2005 the fourth volume in his Islam quintet

Anxieties of Empire and the Fiction of Intrigue Yumna Siddiqi, 2008 Focusing on late nineteenth and twentieth century stories of detection policing and espionage by British and South Asian writers Yumna Siddiqi presents an original and compelling exploration of the cultural anxieties created by imperialism She suggests that while colonial writers use narratives of intrigue to endorse imperial rule postcolonial writers turn the generic conventions and topography of the fiction of intrigue on its head launching a critique of imperial power that makes the repressive and emancipatory impulses of postcolonial modernity visible Siddiqi devotes the first part of her book to the colonial fiction of Arthur Conan Doyle and John Buchan in which the British regime's preoccupation with maintaining power found its voice The rationalization of difference pronouncedly expressed through the genre's strategies of representation and narrative resolution helped to reinforce domination and in some cases allay fears concerning the loss of colonial power In the second part Siddiqi argues that late twentieth century South Asian writers also underscore the state's insecurities but unlike British imperial writers they take a critical view of the state's authoritarian tendencies Such writers as Amitav Ghosh Michael Ondaatje Arundhati Roy and Salman Rushdie use the conventions of detective and spy fiction in creative ways to explore the coercive actions of the postcolonial state and the power dynamics of a postcolonial New Empire Drawing on the work of leading theorists of imperialism such as Edward Said Frantz Fanon and the Subaltern Studies historians Siddiqi reveals how British writers express the anxious workings of a will to maintain imperial power in their writing She also illuminates the ways South Asian writers portray the paradoxes of postcolonial modernity and trace the ruses and uses of reason in a world where the modern marks a horizon not only of hope but also of economic military and ecological disaster 'Post'-9/11 South Asian Diasporic Fiction P. Liao, 2012-12-07 While much of the critical discussion about the emerging genre of 9/11 fiction has centred on the trauma of 9/11 and on novels by EuroAmerican writers this book draws attention to the diversity of what might be meant by post 9/11 by exploring the themes of uncanny terror through a close reading of four post 9/11 South Asian diasporic fictions

Fiction, Film, and Indian Popular Cinema Florian Stadler, 2013-10-30 This book analyses the novels of Salman Rushdie and their stylistic conventions in the context of Indian popular cinema and its role in the elaboration of the author's arguments about post independence postcolonial India Focusing on different genres of Indian popular cinema such as the Social Mythological and Historical Stadtler examines how Rushdie's writing foregrounds the epic the mythic the tragic and the comic linking them in storylines narrated in cinematic parameters The book shows that Indian popular cinema's syncretism becomes an aesthetic marker in Rushdie's fiction that allows him to elaborate on the multiplicity of Indian identity both on the subcontinent and abroad and illustrates how Rushdie uses Indian popular cinema in his narratives to express an aesthetics of hybridity and a particular conceptualization of culture with which India has become identified in a global context Also highlighted are Rushdie's uses of cinema to inflect his reading of India as a pluralist nation and of the hybrid space occupied by the Indian diaspora across the world The book connects Rushdie's storylines with modes of cinematic representation to explore questions about the role place and space of the individual in relation to a fast changing social economic and political space in India and the wider world

Eating and Identity in Postcolonial Fiction Paul Vlitos, 2018-10-11 This book focuses on the fiction of four postcolonial authors V S Naipaul Anita Desai Timothy Mo and Salman Rushdie It argues that meals in their novels act as sites where the relationships between the individual subject and the social identities of race class and gender are enacted Drawing upon a variety of academic fields and disciplines including postcolonial theory historical research food studies and recent attempts to rethink the concept of world literature it dedicates a chapter to each author tracing the literary cultural and historical contexts in which their texts are located and exploring the ways in which food and the act of eating acquire meanings and how those meanings might clash collide and be disputed Not only does this book offer suggestive new readings of the work of its four key authors but it challenges the reader to consider the significance of food in postcolonial fiction more generally

Salman Rushdie and Translation Jenni Ramone, 2013-09-12 Salman Rushdie's writing is engaged with translation in many ways translator figures tell and retell stories in his novels while acts of translation are catalysts for climactic events Covering his major novels as well as his often neglected short stories and writing for children

Salman Rushdie and Translation explores the role of translation in Rushdie's work In this book Jenni Ramone draws on contemporary translation theory to analyse the part translation plays in Rushdie's appropriation of historical and contemporary Indian narratives of independence and migration The New Atheist Novel Arthur Bradley, Andrew Tate, 2010-02-11 The New Atheist Novel is the first study of a major new genre of contemporary fiction It examines how Richard Dawkins's so called New Atheism movement has caught the imagination of four eminent modern novelists Ian McEwan Martin Amis Salman Rushdie and Philip Pullman For McEwan and his contemporaries the contemporary novel represents a new front in the ideological war against religion religious fundamentalism and after 9 11 religious terror the novel apparently stands for everything freedom individuality rationality and even a secular experience of the transcendental that religion seeks to overthrow In this book Bradley and Tate offer a genealogy of the New Atheist Novel where it comes from what needs it serves and most importantly where it may go in the future What is it How does it dramatise the war between belief and non belief To what extent does it represent a genuine ideological alternative to the religious imaginary or does it merely repeat it in secularised form This fascinating study offers an incisive critique of this contemporary testament of literary belief and unbelief Contemporary Indian Writing in English between Global Fiction and Transmodern Historiography Christoph Senft, 2016-01-12 This study offers a comprehensive overview of Indian writing in English in the 21st century Through ten exemplary analyses in which canonical authors stand next to less well known and diasporic ones Christoph Senft provides deep insights into India's complex literary world and develops an argumentative framework in which narrative texts are interpreted as transmodern re readings of history historicity and memory Reconciling different postmodern and postcolonial theoretical approaches to the interpretation and construction of literature and history Senft substitutes traditional Eurocentric and universalistic views on past and present by decolonial and pluralistic practices He thus helps to better understand the entanglements of colonial politics and cultural production not only on the subcontinent
