Letters, Kinship, and Social Mobility in Nigeria Olufemi Vaughan,2023-08-15 In 2003 Olufemi Vaughan received from his ninety five year old father Abiodun a trove of more than 3 000 letters written by four generations of his family in Ibadan Nigeria between 1926 to 1994 The men and women who wrote these letters had emerged from the religious social and educational institutions established by the Church Missionary Society the preeminent Anglican mission in the Atlantic Nigerian region following the imposition of British colonial rule Abiodun recruited to be a civil servant in the colonial administration became the patriarch of a prominent family with historical roots in both West Africa and the Americas his family was the subject of articles in Ebony and Jet as well as in acclaimed histories Reading deeply in these letters Olufemi realized he had a unique set of sources that could be used to illuminate everyday life for this important segment of Nigerian society Letter writing was a dominant form of communication for western educated elites in colonial Africa especially in Nigeria Exposure and an altruistic sense of nationalism were among the factors that led people to begin exchanging letters particularly in their interactions with British colonial authorities Through careful textual analysis and broad contextualization Vaughan reconstructs dominant storylines including themes such as people s relationships with colonial authorities and bureaucracy ideas about faith and kinship nationalism and communal development Vaughan brings his prodigious skills as a historian to bear on this wealth of information bringing to life a portrait at once intimate and expansive of a community during a transformative period in African history

Raza Sí, Migra No Jimmy Patiño, 2017-10-18 As immigration from Mexico to the United States grew through the 1970s and 1980s the Border Patrol police and other state agents exerted increasing violence against ethnic Mexicans in San Diego s volatile border region In response many San Diego activists rallied around the leadership of the small scale print shop owner Herman Baca in the Chicano movement to empower Mexican Americans through Chicano self determination The combination of increasing repression and Chicano activism gradually produced a new conception of ethnic and racial community that included both established Mexican Americans and new Mexican immigrants Here Jimmy Pati o narrates the rise of this Chicano Mexicano consciousness and the dawning awareness that Mexican Americans and Mexicans would have to work together to fight border enforcement policies that subjected Latinos of all statuses to legal violence By placing the Chicano and Latino civil rights struggle on explicitly transnational terrain Pati o fundamentally reorients the understanding of the Chicano movement Ultimately Pati o tells the story of how Chicano Mexicano politics articulated an abolitionist position on immigration going beyond the agreed upon assumptions shared by liberals and conservatives alike that deportations are inherent to any solutions to the still burgeoning immigration debate
