My belief about myself as a learner when I entered the class was a positive one. I attended a college prep school for high school and went to Oregon State University last year. I had plenty of practice with different learning techniques and found what works well for me. I believe I'm more of a visual learner than an auditory learner. It is easier to see a powerpoint and retain the knowledge then listen to a lecture and have the same retention. Entering the class I thought I liked working in groups more than working individually on projects, but that has since changed. I think it is more beneficial to me to work alone because I can get more done. When I entered the class I believed that reading the material closer to the due date was a better idea because I may not remember what I had read if I didn't.

What I have discovered about myself, as a learner over the term is vast. I learned that I can read the material way in advance and just briefly skim over the text and remember just about everything, were as I thought reading closer was more beneficial. I also learned that working in groups really isn't my specialty. I prefer working by myself because I'm able to get a lot more done and not have to worry about other people forgetting their part of the project. I don't like having to worry about other people not following through. I also learned that looking at the daily record in advanced helped me
