Out from Under Mark G. Platt, 2011-04-06 When Gregory Marks is tricked into marrying a psychotic criminal addicted to methamphetamine and Prada shoes only friendship, a gun, and antidepressants can help him survive. Out from Under is one of those rare books that swings between despair and chaotic comedic triumph. Two foreclosures, utter financial ruin, two career changes, being punked into marriage, a car theft ring, two criminal brothers in law, and a pair of teacup Chihuahuas drive Greg to the brink of self-destruction and eventually to a better life. Ultimately a story of triumph. Out from Under provides a true-to-life account of courage and humility, strength and vulnerability, humor and personal responsibility that are required ingredients to not only survive but thrive and prevail over a challenge filled past, chaos-laden present, and a treatable mental illness.

House X at Kommos Jeremy B. Rutter, 2017-12-31 House X is by far the largest and best appointed of the Minoan houses excavated at Kommos in south central Crete, a Minoan harbor and settlement that later became the site of a Greek sanctuary. Situated on the seacoast of the western Mesara Plain, Kommos faces west toward the Libyan Sea. House X stands on the southern edge of the Minoan town, separated by a large slab paved road from the monumental civic buildings built and used between the Protopalatial and Postpalatial periods. The description of the stratigraphic excavation of this elite house is published with numerous architectural plans along with the cataloged small finds and tables of data on the floral and faunal materials. The excavated fresco fragments are also discussed and illustrated. This volume presents the Late Bronze Age pottery from in and around House X, a large Minoan house at Kommos situated not far from the sea in South Central Crete. This volume is richly illustrated with drawings, photos, and tables of data. Rutter's contribution complements the publication of the architecture, stratigraphy, and small finds in Part 1. Shaw and Shaw eds. 2012. Together, this pair of volumes offers a conclusion to a series of monographs, volumes I-V previously published about the site. Shaw and Shaw eds. 1995, 2006. The

Subrata Dasgupta,2018-05-01 By the end of the 1960s a new discipline named computer science had come into being A new scientific paradigm the computational paradigm was in place suggesting that computer science had reached a certain level of maturity Yet as a science it was still precociously young New forces some technological some socio economic some cognitive impinged upon it the outcome of which was that new kinds of computational problems arose over the next two decades Indeed by the beginning of the 1990 s the structure of the computational paradigm looked markedly different in many important respects from how it was at the end of the 1960s Author Subrata Dasgupta named the two decades from 1970 to 1990 as the second age of computer science to distinguish it from the preceding genesis of the science and the age of the Internet World Wide Web that followed This book describes the evolution of computer science in this second age in the form of seven overlapping intermingling parallel histories that unfold concurrently in the course of the two decades Certain themes characteristic of this second age thread through this narrative the desire for a genuine science of computing the realization that computing is as much a human experience as it is a technological one the search for a unified theory of intelligence spanning machines and mind the desire to liberate the computational mind from the shackles of sequentiality and most ambitiously a quest to subvert the very core of the computational paradigm itself We see how the computer scientists of the second age address these desires and challenges in what manner they succeed or fail and how along the way the shape of computational paradigm was altered And to complete this history the author asks and seeks to answer the question of how computer science shows evidence of progress over the course of its second age Dragonfly House and
