Ncv English Paper November 2013:

Consumption, Cities and States Ann Brooks, Lionel Wee, 2015-03-01 Consumption Cities and States examines the fascinating intersection of consumption citizenship and the state in a cross section of global cities in Asia and the West. It focuses on a number of theoretical and empirical analyses developing and amplifying the intersection of consumption citizenship and the state in late modernity in relation to a range of cities examining the concept of the global city as an aspirational category for cities in Asia and the West and considering case studies which highlight the intersection of consumption and the state. As Ann Brooks and Lionel Wee demonstrate, the interface between citizen status and consumer activity proves a crucial point of analysis in the light of the neoliberal assertion that individuals and institutions perform at their best within a free market economy.

Developmentalist Cities? Interrogating Urban Developmentalism in East Asia, 2018-11-26 Developmentalist Cities addresses the missing urban story in research on East Asian developmentalism and the missing developmentalist story in studies of East Asian urbanization. It does so by promoting interdisciplinary research into the subject of urban developmentalism, a term that editors Jamie Doucette and Bae Gyoong Park use to highlight the particular nature of the urban as a site of and for developmentalist intervention. The contributors to this volume deepen this concept by examining the legacy of how Cold War and post Cold War geopolitical economy spaces of exception from special zones to industrial districts and diverse forms of expertise have helped produce urban space in East Asia. Contributors: Carolyn Cartier, Christina Kim, Chilcote Young Jin, Choi Jamie, Doucette Eli, Friedman Jim, Glassman Heidi, Gottfried Laam, Hae Jinn, yuh Hsu, Iam Chong Ip, Jin Bum, Jang Soo, Hyun Kim, Jana M, Kleibert Kah, Wee Lee, Seung Ook, Lee Christina, Moon Bae Gyoong, Park Hyun, Bang Shin.

Making English Official Katherine S. Flowers, 2024-01-18 In communities across the US, people wrestle with which languages to use and who gets to decide. Despite more than 67 million US residents using a language other than English at home, over half of the states in the US have successfully passed English-only policies. Drawing on archives and interviews, this book tells the origin story of the English-only movement as well as the stories of contemporary language policy campaigns in four Maryland county governments, giving a rare glimpse into what motivates the people who most directly shape language policy in the US. It demonstrates that English-only policies grow from more local levels rather than from nationalist ideologies where they are downplayed as harmless community initiatives but result in monolingual approaches to language, remaining increasingly pervasive. This title is part of the Flip it Open Programme and may also be available Open Access. Check our website Cambridge Core for details.

Language, Borders and Identity Dominic Watt, 2014-10-12 Identifying and examining political, socio-psychological and symbolic borders, Language, Borders and Identity encompasses a broad geographically diverse spectrum of border contexts, taking a multi-disciplinary approach by combining sociolinguistics research with human geography, anthropology and social psychology.

The Short Story after Apartheid Graham K. Riach, 2023-10-15

Honourable Mention in the 2023 British Association for Contemporary Literary Studies Monograph Prize

The Short Story after Apartheid offers the first major study of the anglophone short story in South Africa since apartheid's end. By focusing on the short story, this book complicates models of South African literature dominated by the novel and contributes to a much needed generic and formalist turn in postcolonial studies. Literary texts are sites of productive struggle between formal and extra formal concerns, and these brief fragmentary elliptical formally innovative stories offer perspectives that reframe or revise important concerns of post apartheid literature: the aesthetics of engaged writing, the politics of the past, class and race, the legacies of violence, and the struggle over the land. Through an analysis of key texts from the period by Nadine Gordimer, Ivan Vladislavi, Zo Wicomb, Phaswane Mpe, and Henrietta Rose Innes, this book assesses the place of the short story in post apartheid writing and develops a fuller model of how artworks allow and disallow forms of social thought.

Progressive New World Marilyn Lake, 2019-01-07 In a bold argument, Marilyn Lake shows that race and reform were mutually supportive as Progressivism became the political logic of settler colonialism at the turn of the 20th century. She points to exchanges between American and Australasian reformers who shared racial sensibilities along with a commitment to forging an ideal social order.

The Labor of Hope Harry Pettit, 2023-11-14 Technological advancements, expanding education, and unfettered capitalism have encouraged many around the world to aspire to better lives, even as declines in employment and widening inequality are pushing more and more people into insecurity and hardship. In Egypt, a generation of young men desire fulfilling employment, meaningful relationships, and secure family life, yet find few paths to achieve this. The Labor of Hope follows these educated but underemployed men as they struggle to establish careers and build satisfying lives. In so doing, this book reveals the lived contradiction at the heart of capitalist systems: the expansive dreams they encourage and the precarious lives they produce. Harry Pettit follows young men as they engage a booming training, recruitment, and entrepreneurship industry that sells the cruel meritocratic promise that a good life is realizable for all. He considers the various ways individuals cultivate distraction and hope for future mobility: education, migration, consumption, and prayer. These hope-filled practices are a form of emotional labor for young men placing responsibility on the individual rather than structural issues in Egypt's economy. Illuminating this emotional labor, Pettit shows how the capitalist economy continues to capture the attention of the very people harmed by it.

Remote Avant-Garde Jennifer Loureide Biddle, 2016-02-04 In Remote Avant Garde, Jennifer Loureide Biddle models new and emergent desert Aboriginal aesthetics as an art of survival. Since 2007, Australian government policy has targeted remote Australian Aboriginal communities as at crisis level of delinquency and dysfunction. Biddle asks how emergent art responds to national emergency from the creation of locally hunted grass sculptures to biliterary acrylic witness paintings to stop motion animation. Following directly from the unprecedented success of the Western Desert art movement, contemporary Aboriginal artists harness traditions of experimentation to revivify at risk vernacular languages, maintain cultural heritage, and ensure place-based practice of community initiative Biddle shows how these new art forms demand serious and sustained attention to the dense complexities of sentient perception and the radical inseparability of art from life Taking shape on frontier boundaries and in zones of intercultural imperative Remote Avant Garde presents Aboriginal art under occupation in Australia today
