

a guide to writing a theoretical research paper

by Lajos Brons¹

Introduction: What is a theoretical research paper?

In a theoretical research paper the author supports her claim without relying on experiments², surveys, interviews, or other kinds of new data. Instead, the argument depends entirely on “theoretical” research in available scholarly literature (books, articles in scientific journals, and so forth).³ Theoretical research papers are a very common type of assignment. When an undergraduate student has to write a paper for a course, it is almost always a theoretical research paper.

There are no fundamental differences between disciplines when it comes to theoretical research papers.⁴ There are small differences in style and differences in quotation and reference styles, but those are minor

1 Version of May 2, 2019.

2 With an exception of thought experiments, although those are rare in most disciplines.

3 “Theoretical” does not mean that the paper cannot rely on experimental data or other kind of empirical research, but just that any empirical research the paper relies on has already been published and wasn’t done by the author herself for this paper.

4 Neither are there fundamental differences with regards to empirical papers.
