

Teaching Philosophy

My teaching philosophy is: "To create students-techno-centered ambiance wherein students learn through fun, doing activities, active participation, and a spirit of cooperation and collaboration in the peer group or teamwork to make them autonomous with full sense of pride and confidence."

My teaching practices empower students to realize their full potential by providing opportunities, support, feedback, and guidance to achieve the learning outcomes. I plan various activities based on given curriculum, students' learning styles and real-life situations with an aim for the students to comprehend, engage, practice and construct products to display and reflect on tangible progress and desired results. This enables me to bring about the paradigm shift from rote/memorizing method to widen cognitive skills and think critically and apply it in real-life situations to tackle problems creatively. I, through these classroom practices, endeavor to make the classroom an arena for students to learn, develop and demonstrate the productive and the receptive skills.

We pass through a revolutionary phase of rapid technological advances bringing in new challenges. Today, teachers should not only extend beyond delivering the lecture and passing on information but also go through training, seminars, workshops, and conferences to acquaint, develop, analyze and communicate new knowledge. Mostly, I found the students learn more effectively in informal discussions during office hours and interacting on social media beyond classroom settings. I adopt the co-teaching approach to learning much from my colleagues and students. I still foresee to ongoing teaching, research, training and learning en route from my peers and students to grow and learn new things.

I believe that teaching is not about one individual student, but about hopes, expectations, and aspiration of many students. And when the institution exists to impose faith and empower its teachers with autonomy, good curriculum, evaluation standards, and encouraging environment to teach rather to put obstacles in their path, progress is

Research Paper On Teaching Philosophy:

Teaching Philosophy Statement Umar Aliyu, 2019-08-19 I am delighted to write this book because teachers play a very vital and important role in our life. A good teacher helps us to become good human beings and citizens in our society and the country as a whole. Teachers know that students are the future of any nation so the future development of any nation is in the hands of teachers. There is a core belief behind every educator which is teachers are known to be simply amazing. Teachers inspire people because they impact knowledge and add value to their students' lives and overall these individuals understand the sacrifice and dedication one must make in order to be successful in the lives they touch. The most common role a teacher plays in the classroom is to teach knowledge to children and let us always have it in the back of our minds that it is only in learning you will teach and in teaching you will learn. The most important role of a teacher is to deliver classroom instruction that helps students by ensuring that students experience academic success and through functioning as surrogate parents, mentors and counsellors and even almost politicians since there is almost no limit to the roles a teacher will play. Teachers teach in many ways including lectures, small group activities and hands on learning activities. Therefore to achieve all this there must be some laid down principles that must be followed in order to fully impact the students positively and overall achieve growth and development in the education industry. A typical practice for instructors is to build up a showing logic which causes them to become intelligent specialists all through time on different educating and learning methodologies. A teaching philosophy statement is a narrative that includes your conception of teaching and learning, a description of how you teach and justification for why you teach in a particular way. In other words your teaching philosophy is a self-reflective statement of your beliefs about teaching and learning. It is a one to two page narrative which conveys your core ideas about being an effective teacher in the context of your discipline. The thrust of the paper is to critically analyse what is teaching philosophy and its importance to teachers and the educational sector as a whole. This book will help starting and experienced instructors to improve their teaching abilities by building methods insight and a formative procedure concentrated on the upgrade for learning. According to Aristotle, Those who know do while those that understand teach. I also firmly believe that the most vital and important thing in the world is teaching because the best thing a person can achieve in life is to learn something because it is virtually the only thing which the mind can never overlook, never use up completely, never feel isolated or estranged and will never let you down. This is why Teaching Philosophy is very important to teachers because it enables them to understand the scope and limits of empirical research in education and the relationships between that research and conceptual issues in education thereby making them view and analyse from the perspective of their students. Finally apart from understanding why students are behaving in a particular way with Teaching Philosophy teachers would also be able to know how students perceive their actions. As a model in teaching in High school, Colleges or Universities this book peels back the layers of those conceptual issues in teaching worlds and reveals many surprising findings that will

Handbook of Research on Global Issues in Next-Generation Teacher Education Keengwe, Jared, Mbae, Justus G., Onchwari, Grace, 2016-02-17 There is no question that all aspects of modern life have been imbued with technology In education students are becoming increasingly savvy in their use of the myriad technologies and virtual tools and must be taught adequate complimentary skills to be effective in the 21st century workforce To answer this call teachers education must reflect modern demands by integrating the use of these tools as part of their teaching practices The Handbook of Research on Global Issues in Next Generation Teacher Education addresses this need with precise comprehensive research and case studies With strategies and emerging research on the empowerment of tomorrow's inspirational educational leaders this handbook of research outlines the challenges benefits and opportunities of engaging teachers with the 21st century skills their students require Teachers students of education administrators and policy makers will find this publication offers a number of innovative solutions Philosophical Inquiry with Children Gilbert Burgh, Simone Thornton, 2018-12-07

Philosophy in schools in Australia dates back to the 1980s and is rooted in the Philosophy for Children curriculum and pedagogy Seeing potential for educational change Australian advocates were quick to develop new classroom resources and innovative programs that have proved influential in educational practice throughout Australia and internationally Behind their contributions lie key philosophical and educational discussions and controversies which have shaped attempts to introduce philosophy in schools and embed it in state and national curricula Drawing together a wide range of eminent scholars and practitioners in the field of educational philosophy this anthology the first of its kind provides not only a historical narrative but an opportunity to reflect on the insights and experiences of the authors that have made history The collection is divided into three parts The overarching theme of Part I is the early years of Philosophy for Children in Australia and how they informed the course that the philosophy in schools movement would take Part II focuses on the events and debates surrounding the development and production of new materials including arguments for and against the suitability of the original Philosophy for Children curriculum In Part III key developments relating to teaching philosophy in schools are analysed This collection of diverse views critical appraisals and different perspectives of historical currents is intended to stimulate thought provoking questions about theory and practice and to increase general awareness both nationally and internationally of the maturation of philosophy in schools in Australia It is also intended to encourage readers to identify emerging ideas and develop strategies for their implementation Research in Education ,1973 Ethics in Professional Education Christopher Martin,Claudia W. Ruitenberg,2019-07-09 Recent years have seen a growing emphasis on ethics education in different professions such as medicine and teaching However the implications of this emphasis for professional education programs have been underdeveloped In this volume philosophers of education and ethics educators engaged in a variety of professional contexts in Canada the UK Norway Malta and Sweden assess the state of ethics education and the role if any of philosophical approaches to ethics for those professional contexts This volume speaks to teacher medical and business education and the education of school psychologists Each of these fields has its own context aims and expertise generating distinctive ethical challenges As such ethics curricula cannot be uncritically transplanted from one professional context to another Nonetheless the arguments and analyses in this volume point to a shared concern about the role of moral respect self understanding and virtue in the education of professionals The chapters examine a wide range of topics including empirical ethics core concepts in professional ethics moral agency the ethics of ethics education risk taking professional ethics as a practice with its own ethical requirements and the tensions between the individual client patient student and the increasing generalization of professional systems This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethics in Education Resources in Education ,2000-10 The Routledge Companion to Education James Arthur,Andrew Peterson,2013-07-23 The Routledge Companion to Education presents the most comprehensive up to date guide available to the major topics and theories in education Forty specially commissioned chapters covering all aspects of education introduce you to the key thinkers events ideas research and issues that have shaped the field of education A Subject Index to Current Literature Australian Public Affairs Information Service, Learning, Work and Practice: New Understandings Paul Gibbs,2012-08-14 This book s original contribution to a crowded literature on work and learning will attract strong international interest Its focus on the philosophy of learning at work brings a fresh perspective on a topic normally viewed through psychological anthropological and sociological eyes It assembles a host of internationally recognized scholars who reflect on the various philosophies of work based learning Full of distinctive and original contributions that provide perceptive insights into the subject the work will be a practical support to teachers trainers and researchers at the same time as it gives readers a clear philosophical grounding in learning at work It is however not simply a book about philosophy but a gazetteer of approaches to education in work that will sustain and inspire those who provide engage in and support the learning of new knowledge and skills in the workplace With adaptability to new employment opportunities so vital to existing workers the authors stand behind continued provision of work based learning in the face of

Aspin, Judith Chapman, Michael Hatton, Yukiko Sawano, 2012-12-06 Recent changes in the world effected by the transformations of information technology globalisation and the move towards a knowledge economy over the last thirty years have been as radical and fundamental as the changes resulting from the invention of the wheel and the printing press We are now living in a new age in which the demands are so complex so multifarious and so rapidly changing that the only way in which we shall be able to survive them is by committing to a process of individual communal and global learning throughout the lifespan of all of us A number of international bodies and agencies have taken cognisance of these transformations and the demands they impose upon societies and communities of the twenty first century and have developed and articulated policies intended to enable all citizens of the world in the twenty first century to face these challenges It is now a declared policy of many governments and international agencies that the only vehicle for such preparation is education education education and that preparing for the knowledge economy and the learning society of the future has to be a lifelong undertaking an investment in the future that is not restricted merely to the domain of economic advancement but also to those of social inclusion and personal growth Realising this policy makers across the international arena are grappling with the need to move from systems that emphasise education and training to the radically more unworked construct of lifelong learning In this volume the editors and authors analyse criticise and rework the ideas principles and theories underpinning policies and programs of lifelong learning re interpreting them in the light of examples of best practice found in a range of educating institutions around the world We believe that students of educational change and community development will find it useful and helpful to have available in this volume some of the most up to date thinking on the chief concepts theories and values of increasing policy interest in lifelong learning together with a review of some significant examples of the different forms focuses and nexuses of thought and practice on this topic All this enables us to offer some policy recommendations and practical suggestions as to ways forward in the endeavour to make lifelong learning a reality for all      Questioning Leadership Gabriele Lakomski, Scott Eacott, Colin W. Evers, 2016-11-10 Questioning

Leadership offers a diverse mix of cutting edge research in the field of educational leadership with contributions from expert and emerging leadership scholars It contextualises school leadership within broader social and historical contexts and traces its influence on school performance through time from its relatively modest role within a systems theory paradigm to its growing influence from the 1980s onwards as exercising leadership came to be perceived as being largely responsible for improving educational outcomes This book invites the reader to challenge the current orthodoxy of leader centrism and instead reflect more broadly on the various structural and institutional interrelationships that determine how a school functions successfully It poses challenging questions such as Is leadership really necessary for high quality school performance Can schools function effectively without leadership Is it possible to describe the work that principals do without using the word leadership How do we challenge the assumption that leadership simply exists and that it is seen as the appropriate default explanation for school performance This book does not assume that leadership is the key to organisational performance although it acknowledges the work that principals do It goes against current orthodoxy and offers varied perspectives on how leadership might be repositioned vis vis organisational and institutional structures It also suggests some new directions for leading and learning and throws open a discussion on leadership that for too long has been captured by the assumption that the leader is the cause of organisational performance and learning outcomes in schools At a time when leadership s dominance seems unshakeable this is a bold book that should appeal to postgraduate students of educational leadership and management those undertaking training in educational administration and current school leaders interested in exploring the value of leadership for educational organisations
