

Reflection of: Research Paper

Research paper assignment consider as a complete and detailed document of measuring quality assurance of a specific organization whether educational or private one. This assignment enable us to express our knowledge of the concepts, tools and methods that will used for measuring the quality of targeted institutions which is Mohammed bin Shikan School (1 - 0) of basic education circle two. This assignment is considered as a complementary for the previous one which is the quality assurance plan diagram. I started this assignment by stating the main goal and the related objectives of this research paper then, I have mention to targeted three main areas which is the personnel who are dealing with the learning resource centre of Mohammed bin Shikan School whether teachers or students, the content whether traditional or digital one and finally the environment of the learning resource centre and the different equipment and facilities that available at the centre. Also, for each of these areas I have created a special tools and methods that can help on collecting the needed data and presenting it in effective and understandable way. At the end we state the conclusion of the overall research paper in a term of strong, weak point and our recommendations which consider as a feedback of the all previous processes. In overall, this assignment -as mention above- enable us to express our knowledge of the concepts, tools and methods that we have studied and should apply it for measuring the quality of any educational or private institution. Also, it helps us to enhance our English writing and expressing our thoughts and ideas.

Lesson Study Research and Practice in Mathematics Education Lynn C. Hart, Alice S. Alston, Aki Murata, 2011-01-11

Lesson study is a professional development process that teachers engage in to systematically examine their practice with the goal of becoming more effective. Originating in Japan, lesson study has gained significant momentum in the mathematics education community in recent years. As a process for professional development, lesson study became highly visible when it was proposed as a means of supporting the common practice of promoting better teaching by disseminating documents like standards, benchmarks, and nationally validated curricula. While the body of knowledge about lesson study is growing, it remains somewhat elusive and composed of discrete research endeavors. As a new research area, there is no coherent knowledge base yet. This book will contribute to the field by bringing the work of researchers and practitioners together to create a resource for extant work. This book describes several aspects of Lesson Study; amongst others, it gives an historical overview of the concept, it addresses issues related to learning and teaching mathematics, it looks at the role of the teacher in the process. The last two sections of the book look at how Lesson Study can be used with preservice mathematics teachers and at university mathematics methods teaching.

Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers

Bernie Sullivan, Máirín Glenn, Mary Roche, Caitriona McDonagh, 2016-04-28 Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers provides crucial direction for educators looking to improve their teaching and maximise learning. While many students can grasp the basic elements of researching their practice and can write about practitioner research, some need guidance and assistance to reflect meaningfully on their teaching practice so as to articulate their educational values. This book provides this guidance. By exploring how to engage in an authentic, practical, and personalised framework, the book encourages critical reflection and action on educational practice. Moving through the process of reflecting on practice, engaging in critical thinking and planning, and taking action, it helps the reader to subsequently generate educational theory from their own personal learning. Examples from the authors' experiences illustrate the issues raised in each section, with Pause and Reflect activities, guidelines for conducting a research project, and annotated further reading available for every chapter. Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers is based on the idea that reflection is in itself a deliberate action and something we must live; it is key to understanding our practice and is a core component of action research. This book is a valuable guide for teachers, trainee teachers, and researchers interested in reflecting on and enhancing their teaching practice.

Writing Theology Well Lucretia B. Yaghjian, 2006-11-24

In its creative integration of the disciplines of writing, rhetoric, and theology, Writing Theology Well provides a standard text for theological educators engaged in the teaching and mentoring of writing across the theological curriculum. As a theological rhetoric, it will also encourage excellence in theological writing in the public domain by helping to equip students for their wider vocations as writers, preachers, and communicators in a variety of ministerial and professional contexts.

Greater Expectations Robin Turner, 2023-10-10 While the population of Hispanic Latino and African American students in the United States continues to grow the rate at which they attend college remains alarmingly small These students who are often defined as educationally underrepresented are a bellwether of a shortcoming in our nation's educational system that has serious implications for the future In Greater Expectations Teaching Academic Literacy to Underrepresented Students author and teacher Robin Turner offers pragmatic proven methods for better preparing underrepresented students for higher education Forming the book's foundations are the ideas of fam lia and cari o or family and caring Familia asserts the importance of establishing a sense of community and tapping into student culture ethnicity music sports neighborhood and so on in the language arts classroom

Cari o contends that underrepresented students possess attributes that are overlooked and are viewed with a deficit model paradigm. Building on this foundation, Greater Expectations shows how to effectively teach different modes of academic discourse: literary analysis, autobiographical, biographical, persuasive research, and community based writing. Offering a combination of personal narrative, how to lesson plans, and student samples, Turner challenges readers to approach their underrepresented students with greater expectations and be equipped with specific lesson plans to enable their classes to meet them. The book is grounded in and inspired by Turner's experience as a leader in the Puente Project, a college preparation program started in California high schools over twenty years ago. Since 1981, Puente has proven highly effective in producing positive change by improving academic performance, standardized test scores, and college admission rates for underrepresented students.

Discipline-Centered Learning Communities: Creating Connections Among Students, Faculty, and Curricula Kimberly Buch, Kenneth E. Barron, 2012-12-10 Take an in-depth look at discipline-centered learning communities. Using psychology as an example, this issue provides prescriptive advice for those interested in developing a learning community in any academic discipline or program. Learning communities are a powerful vehicle for creating and sustaining connections among students, faculty, and the curriculum, but creating one can be a challenge. By providing resources, practical case studies, and theoretical grounding, this volume can both inspire and guide faculty, staff, and administrators in meeting their pedagogical and curricular goals. Learn how the five types of learning communities—based curricularly, residentially, in the classroom, on the students themselves, and even virtually—can be used to enhance student engagement and learning. Illustrating the versatility of the practice across a wide range of settings, student populations, and institutional types, this issue also contains an extensive listing of resources that go beyond disciplinary boundaries and open possibilities for all in higher education This is the 132nd volume of this Jossey Bass higher education series New Directions for Teaching and Learning offers a comprehensive range of ideas and techniques for improving college teaching based on the experience of seasoned instructors and the latest findings of educational and psychological researchers
