Document Imaging Report ,1998 Sideways Josh O'Kane,2024-11-12 From the tech reporter who most closely pursued the Sidewalk Labs fiasco in Toronto an uncompromising look into what the Google sister company s failure in urban development reveals about Big Tech data and the monetization of everything When former New York deputy mayor Dan Doctoroff landed in Toronto promising a revolution in better living through technology the locals were starstruck In 2017 a small parcel of land on the city's underdeveloped lakeshore was available for development and with Google co-founder Larry Page and chairman Eric Schmidt leaning into Sidewalk Labs' pitch for the long-forsaken property with Doctoroff as the urban planning company's CEO, Sidewalk's bid crushed the competition. But as soon as the bid was won, cracks appeared in the partnership between Doctoroff's team and Waterfront Toronto, the government-sponsored organization behind the contest. Hundreds more acres of undeveloped former port lands kept creeping into Sidewalk's plans, and questions were emerging about how much the public would benefit from the company's vision for a high-tech neighbourhood and the data it could harvest from residents. The ensuing fight to reel in the power of Sidewalk Labs became a crucible moment for the worldwide battle for digital rights and against the extension of a digital behemoth's corporate might into the physical world. In the tradition of boardroom dramas like Bad Blood and Super Pumped, Sidewalk signals to the world that all may not be lost in the effort to contain the rapidly growing power of Big Tech.

Psychology of Arab Management Thinking Majid Said Nasser Al Suleimany, 2009-04 A 02 About The Book Psychology of Arab Management Thinking M For a long time now I have been putting off the idea of writing this book though it had been on my mind for a long time now. The mere idea of writing this book scared me to bits and pieces for many valid and pertinent reasons. As Arabs, work is worshipped. Islamic Religion calls on us to respect work like as if it is in praying. We are also brought up to be polite, courteous, and decent at least a majority of us. Abrupt, ugly rudeness and distort are discouraged. Also, it is not easy to say NO as part of the culture, customs, traditions, and heritage. So, what went wrong here, especially in Management circles? Why are we behind the rest of the world despite all our riches and resources? I hope you will enjoy the book. I have tried to be as frank, open, forthright, honest, sincere, and genuine as I can. As Readers who know me can give credence and credibility to me and will vouch and authenticate my works. It is a no-punch spared, no-barrel held stiff, no-frills play, but to be as frank, open, and honest as possible so it can be a learning process for this generation and others to come in the future. I have not spared myself so there is just for it to be honest, sincere, genuine, and hard-hitting, sparing no one. Just No One.

Educating the Nation Sabyasachi Bhattacharya, Joseph Bara, Chinna Rao Yagati, 2003 Integrity in Government through Records Management James Lowry, Justus Wamukoya, 2016-05-23 As a celebration of Anne Thurston's pioneering work on records and archives management as an essential basis for demonstrating integrity in government, this excellent volume brings together scholars and practicing archivists to discuss key issues around records as evidence for accountability, transparency, and the protection of citizens' rights. Never before have authors from the developing and developed worlds come together to explore the intersection of records management, public administration, and international development. The book covers Thurston's work, the importance of records management for effective governance, and digital records management and preservation in developing countries. Case studies from across Africa enhance the theoretical and practical perspectives taken by the authors. This book is essential reading for scholars and students interested in records management and good governance around the world.
