Abstract—This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 3-day-per-week, 100-min-per-session, supervised, low-impact aerobically and resistance training program on the health-related quality of life (HRQL) of sedentary, middle-aged, obese women. The program was designed to be safe and enjoyable for the participants. The program was evaluated using the SF-36, a validated, self-report questionnaire that assesses HRQL. The results of the study showed that the program had a positive effect on the HRQL of the participants. The program was well tolerated and the participants enjoyed it. The program was also found to be safe and effective. The results of the study suggest that a supervised, low-impact aerobically and resistance training program can improve the HRQL of sedentary, middle-aged, obese women.
