The Square Kilometre Array Richard T. Schilizzi, Ronald D. Ekers, Peter E. Dewdney, Philip Crosby, 2024-06-21 The Square Kilometre Array SKA is a grand vision project to build the most sensitive radio telescope in the world This open access book tells the story of its development a story of transformational science innovative engineering and global collaboration Its journey has been long and complex reflecting the many issues faced in creating an affordable design choosing a site and developing a viable global organisation starting from a simple working group of far sighted and persistent astronomers in 1993 The book begins with the emergence of the SKA concept and the first working group It traces the development of global scientific and engineering collaborations and ever more comprehensive governance structures for the SKA the involvement and roles of funding agencies and governments and the long political site selection process This occurred alongside efforts to overcome technical barriers and the difficult process of selecting technology It follows these themes up to the point in 2012 when the project had just transitioned from a collaboration to a legal entity and the dual site decision was made a pivotal moment when it was clear the SKA arrays would be built. The book is based on the authors personal experience at the leading edge of the project over many years as well as access to hitherto unpublished material from project archives interviews and presentations from many of the key players at a specially convened conference. It has a Foreword written by John Womersley former Chair of the Agencies SKA Group and SKA Organisation Board. The book is intended for an audience ranging from funding agencies and governments involved in major research infrastructures to historians of science and professional researchers studying mega projects to the astronomy and physics communities in general and interested lay readers.

Arbitration in Africa under OHADA Rules Mahutodji Jimmy Vital Kodo, 2020-09-17. Increased international investment in African countries over recent decades has called for a harmonized legal environment across borders creating inter alia a modern arbitration system. The 1993 Treaty establishing the Organization for the Harmonization of Business Law in Africa OHADA took a giant step toward meeting this need and improved and consolidated its achievements with major arbitration related revisions enacted in 2017 that came into force in 2018. This book the first methodical analysis in English describes in great detail the two distinct arbitration regimes ad hoc and institutional that characterize the system equipping practitioners with everything they need to know to conduct arbitral proceedings efficiently in any of the OHADA's seventeen Member States. OHADA's dual arbitration system manifests best practices and the core principles of international arbitration. Its specific features including the following are thoroughly analyzed in the book: ad hoc and institutional arbitration under the Uniform Act on Arbitration UAA and institutional arbitration administered by the Common Court of Justice and Arbitration under its Regulations on Arbitration CCJA. Arbitration Rules implementation of these instruments by the courts of the Member States and the CCJA types of persons who can resort to arbitration under the two arbitration regimes including natural and legal persons and State Parties to the Treaty types of disputes likely to be resolved by arbitration under the two arbitration regimes including contractual and investment related disputes acceptance and validity of the arbitration agreement remedies and recourse against arbitral awards and effects of arbitration agreements including foreign recognition and enforcement. Throughout the book the author cites cases and precedents of the CCJA as well as relevant decisions of lower courts. Also the author has thoroughly revised and improved English translations of essential primary material which are included in the Appendices Over the past twenty years the OHADA arbitration framework has been tried and tested in proceedings before arbitral tribunals Member States courts and the CCJA as well as courts in Western countries in the context of enforcement proceedings With this book advisors and representatives of parties in the OHADA Member States will approach any relevant arbitration matter with full awareness of applicable rules of procedure The book a highly welcome bridge that connects the rest of the world with OHADA will become an indispensable guide for arbitrators counsels to parties in house counsels government and State owned entities and academics in international arbitration

Ortega, Alexander Gómez-A, Lucas Cuenya, Javier Leonardo Rico, 2020-05-11 Latin America has increased its share of world scientific publications by nearly twofold during the last two decades approximately from 2 to 4% Despite this positive trend the scholarly impact of scientific research produced in the region measured in terms of citation rate remains low Two interrelated factors that contribute to this situation is that most research groups tend to work in isolation or in local sporadic collaboration and results are often published in journals that are not indexed in major citation databases e g SCOPUS or Web of Science Ultimately part of Latin American high quality research seems to remain hidden from the rest of the world Over the last decades an important number of Latin American scientists have developed fruitful research agendas on questions on learning and emotion focusing on basic and or translational research with humans and other animal models and implementing diverse methodologies Notwithstanding the important contributions of these research programs Latin American research on emotion and learning has followed the overall trend of other research fields throughout the region namely remaining partially hidden from the large scientific community of the world This Research Topic aimed to engage researchers from Latin America to share their empirical and conceptual work on learning and emotion Ultimately this effort was expected to strengthen and integrate our regional community of experts enhance global networking and establish new challenges and developments for future investigation

How International Law Works in Times of Crisis George Ulrich, Ineta Ziemele, 2019 For some time the word crisis has been dominating international political discourse But this is nothing new Crisis has always been part of the discipline of international law History indeed shows that international law has developed through reacting to previous experiences of crisis reflecting an agreement on what it takes to avoid their repetition However human society evolves and challenges existing rules structures and agreements International law is confronted with questions as to the suitability of the existing legal framework for new stages of development Ulrich and Ziemele here bring together an expert group of scholars to address the question of how international law confronts crises today in terms of legal thought rule making and rule application The editors have characterized international law and crisis discourse as one of a dialectical nature and have grouped the articles contained in the volume under four main themes security immunities sustainable development and philosophical perspectives Each theme pertains to an area of international law which at the present moment in time is subject to notable challenges and confrontations from developments in human society The surprising general conclusion which emerges is that by and large the international legal system contains concepts principles rules mechanisms and formats for addressing the various developments that may prima facie seem to challenge these very same elements of the system Their use however requires informed policy decisions

APOPTOSIS INDUCTION/SUPPRESSION: A FEASIBLE APPROACH FOR NATURAL PRODUCTS TO TREATMENT OF DISEASES, 2nd Edition Hong Zhang, Hailing Xin, Wei Peng, Khalid Rahman, 2025-01-23 This Research Topic is part of a series See also Apoptosis Induction Suppression A Feasible Approach for Natural Products to Treatment of Diseases Volume II Apoptosis is generally recognized as a form of programmed cell death which is beneficial for normal cell development organ growth and tissue homeostasis in multicellular organisms In normal conditions millions of cells would indeed die and proliferate every day in the human body However an imbalance between cell death and proliferation can lead to some serious diseases Two different case scenarios can be distinguished 1 uncontrolled cell proliferation and insufficient cell apoptosis would lead to various cancer types and autoimmune diseases e g rheumatoid arthritis lupus erythematosus etc 2 excessive apoptosis in normal cells e g neural cells or cardiomyocytes would result in neurodegenerative diseases Alzheimer s disease Parkinson s disease and Huntington s disease and ischemia injuries myocardial infarction stroke etc respectively Natural products from plants animals microorganisms and minerals are potentially important resources in the context of drug discovery for various diseases Importantly increasing scientific evidence has suggested that apoptosis induction or suppression might be one of the predominant molecular mechanisms whereby natural products could be used to treat diseases especially cancer rheumatoid

arthritis Alzheimer's disease Parkinson's disease stroke etc However not much is known about the detailed molecular mechanisms underlying apoptosis induction or suppression including signaling pathways novel and key pharmacological targets as well as the action of specific active substances extracted from plants etc In addition lots of active natural products based on apoptosis regulation have already received drug regulatory approvals e.g. taxol camptothecin and sinomenine and been used as clinical drugs to treat diseases furthermore there are many other natural products in the stages of the clinical investigations However the related advance and update of the current drug development correlated to apoptosis induction or suppression systematic reviews or meta analysis of these clinical drugs or candidate drugs in clinical research stage are insufficient This Research Topic will provide an academic platform to discuss how natural products can be used to treat several types of diseases via apoptosis induction suppression We invite authors to contribute original research and review articles testing the action of natural bioactive products on various diseases through apoptosis regulation including induction and suppression We aim to particularly focus on the recent advances in the curative properties of natural products on cancers tumors autoimmune diseases neurodegenerative diseases and cardiac diseases through apoptosis regulation and new natural bioactive agents for controlling diseases via regulating apoptosis Potential topics will include but won't be limited to the following 1 Advance in curative properties of natural products on diseases via apoptosis regulation 2 Advance and update of the current drug development correlated to apoptosis induction or suppression 3 Novel natural products with curative activities via apoptosis induction in particular for cancers tumors rheumatoid arthritis and lupus erythematosus 4 Novel natural products with curative activities via apoptosis suppression in particular for neurodegenerative diseases Alzheimer's disease Parkinson's disease and Huntington's disease and ischemia injury myocardial infarction stroke 5 Novel signal molecules for the apoptosis related signal pathway 6 Systematic reviews or meta analysis of the approved natural drugs or candidate natural drugs in clinical research stage with induction or suppression of apoptosis The four pillars of best practice in ethnopharmacology With these guidelines we define in detail what constitutes best practice for manuscripts submitted to Frontiers in Pharmacology Section Ethnopharmacology They provide a basis for the peer review and build on the general requirements of Frontiers in Pharmacology

1 Pharmacology a The manuscript MS must report a substantive body of ethnopharmacological research to be considered as an independent addition to the literature In general we expect that such studies are based on local traditional uses of plants or other natural substances which need to be spelled out clearly b For pharmacological studies the model used must be one which is either generally accepted in the field as valid or a credible alternative whose general development and application in the reported instance has been justified Specifically antioxidant activity must be based on a pharmacologically relevant in vivo or cell based model Simple in silico and pharmacologically irrelevant assays for antioxidant activity e.g. the DPPH assay FRAP Ferric Reducing Ability of Plasma ABTS 2,2-azino-bis(3-ethylbenzothiazoline 6-sulfonic acid) are not acceptable as a main tool for assessing an extract or a compound for activity c

Similarly simple screening for anti microbial effects of crude extracts is no longer state of the art Authors must follow the widely accepted standards for microbiological testing of Cos et al 2006 Anti infective potential of natural products How to develop a stronger in vitro proof of concept Journal of Ethnopharmacology 106 290 302 and subsequent methods papers Such research is only meaningful if it contributes to our mechanistic understanding of anti microbial effects its specificity or identifies novel leads d The dose ranges must be therapeutically relevant While it will be impossible to define an exact cut off the literature in the field is now replete with studies which test extracts at implausibly high doses Single dose studies will only be of relevance in exceptional circumstances e g in case of specific complex pharmacological models And of course positive and negative controls must be included e In order to establish therapeutic benefits selectivity data are essential How specific is the effect Many compounds have non selective in vitro effects and research on common compounds must be justified in terms of the potential therapeutic benefits While such research may be relevant and have potential applications authors will need to assess the specificity of a single compound or an extract rich in a well studied compound like rutin curcumin or quercetin and provide evidence for the relevance and novelty of the approach f Docking studies must be justified with affinity experiments or other well established experimental methods to support a proposed mechanism of action Algorithmic docking studies will not be accepted these indicate if a compound will fit into a binding site but do not indicate the binding affinity or the ability to induce a conformational change 2 Composition a Botanical The identification of the study material must be described well All species are fully validated using Kew MPNS portal or The Plant List initiative or Plants of the World Online Of course full botanical documentation is essential i e a voucher specimen deposited in a recognised herbarium A scan of the voucher s is welcome as supplementary material and encourage authors to include the coordinates of the location where the material had been collected b Chemical The composition of the study material must be described in sufficient detail Chromatograms with a characterisation of the dominating compound s are preferable If preparations are used which are available commercially quality parameters provided in pharmacopoeia must be provided The material under study must be characterised using the methods of the relevant monograph If pure compounds are used sufficient information on the level of purity must be included Especially in in vitro models the authors must be confident that the compounds are stable under the conditions used for example they do not degrade due to high concentrations of DMSO A critical aspect that should be considered is how these assays and extraction protocols are linked to local and traditional uses In this way variables such as the solubility of the compound in the traditional preparation and in the analytical extraction protocol should be taken into consideration All chemical line structures must be drawn using a internationally accepted structure drawing programme must be consistent and if possible and relevant the stereochemistry needs to be given c Multiherbal preparations Very often multiherbal preparations are used Full information on their composition in terms of the botanical drugs species included and information on the rationale for studying this preparation needs to be included It is essential that in these cases sufficient details are provided on the botanical 2a and chemical 2b characterisation 3 Basic requirements and research ethics

Frontiers has very well developed guidelines relating to ethical aspects of a MS Specifically for Frontiers in Pharmacology Ethnopharmacology the following key requirements are essential a The objectives of the research reported must be spelled out clearly and in detail All MS must critically assess the scientific basis of the work and provide meaningful conclusions which are based on a clear hypothesis research question as defined in the introduction Ethnopharmacological research must assess whether a compound or plant extract has a certain effect and it cannot be about confirming an extract s or compound s effects or efficacy

b Research must add new and scientifically substantive knowledge to our understanding of the pharmacology and use of medicinal plants A key basis for this is a review of literature relevant to the pharmacological activity already reported on the species including possibly related taxa or compounds This must be up to date and clearly demonstrate the substantive addition to the literature the MS submitted represents Simply using advanced measurements techniques protocols reproducing previous studies of the same plant product will only be accepted in exceptional circumstances e g previously unknown highly active components are discovered c Compliance with all international ethical standards is essential In the context of ethnopharmacology the Convention on Biological Diversity and most recently the Nagoya Protocol are of particular relevance <https://www.cbd.int/abs>

d Research in ethnopharmacology is based on local and traditional knowledge often passed on orally over generations Ultimately research in this field must therefore benefit those populations who are or were the original keeper of this knowledge

e The use of animals must be justified in the context of novelty see also part 1 It is ethically not acceptable to have yet another in vivo study on an already well studied species demonstrating some common activity e g an anti inflammatory effect studied in the rat paw edema The same is true for species which are chemically very similar and generally are rich in common ingredient to ones already studied pharmacologically Such studies must meet s the standards of rigor we expect in ethnopharmacology as defined in the Frontiers guidelines

4 Other specific requirements a Studies focusing on local and traditional uses of plants ethnopharmacological field studies must be based on substantial original data The relevance of the MS in the context of previous studies in the geographical region must be spelled out clearly and it must contribute to the understanding of the therapeutic uses of plant species and inform experimental or clinical studies This includes an adequate presentation and discussion of the data Also social science centered studies e g ethnobotanical studies or health system research of local and traditional medical systems are welcome This journal subscribes to the ConSEFS standards including any updates

b In case of reviews we expect clearly defined scientific aims objectives a comprehensive critical and specific assessment of the relevant information linking local and other medical uses to the biomedical and bioscientific evidence Reviews need to define future research needs and priorities It is essential that the scientific quality of the original articles cited is assessed If pharmacological studies are reviewed particular attention must be paid to assessing the quality of the studies

c Food plants are commonly reported to have pharmacological effects Frontiers in Ethnopharmacology focuses on therapeutic benefits of such species and not on the general food nutritional properties Bioactive materials and musculoskeletal disease Jun Lin,Nader Parvin,Ganjun Feng,Yusheng Li,2023-03-16 Initiatives to raise young people's interest and participation in STEM Milagros Sainz,Katja Upadyaya,Sergi Fàbregues,2023-03-23 Food Safety and Foodborne Pathogen - A Global Perspective on the Diversity, Combating Multidrug Resistance and Management Learn-Han Lee,Om V. Singh,Nurul-Syakima Ab Mutalib,Marta López,2020-12-11 A question raised by many individuals today How Safe is Our Food Consumed Today Food safety has become a hot topic and an important public issue due to the increasingly widespread nature of foodborne illnesses in both developed and developing countries As food is biological in nature and supplies consumers with nutrients it is also equally capable of supporting the growth of microorganisms from the environmental sources A precise method of monitoring and detecting of foodborne pathogens including Salmonella sp Vibrio sp Listeria monocytogenes Campylobacter and Norovirus is needed to prevent and control human foodborne infections Clinical treatments of infection caused by foodborne pathogens are becoming tougher with the increase number of multidrug resistant pathogens in the environment This situation creates a huge healthcare burden e g prolonged treatment for infections decrease in the efficacy of antibiotic delay in treatment due to unavailability of new antibiotics and increased number of deaths As such continuous investigation of the foodborne pathogens is needed to pave the way for a deeper understanding on the foodborne diseases and to improve disease prevention management and treatments
