A Literary Essay About "Eleven" by Sandra Cisneros

Children are often intimidated and fall silent when in the company of adults and they use coping strategies to deal with their inner frustration. In "Eleven," the main character, Rachel, states, "...if I was one hundred and two I'd have known what to say when Mrs. Price put the red sweater on my desk." Throughout "Eleven" Rachel frequently feels intimidated by Mrs. Price. Many times she becomes silent and tries to cope with her frustration.

In the beginning of "Eleven," Rachel feels intimidated and is silenced by Mrs. Price. An example of this is when Mrs. Price says, "Of course it's yours. I remember you wearing it once (the sweater)." Because she's older and the teacher, she's right and I'm not." Rachel is frustrated when Mrs. Price demands that she put the sweater on and does not allow her to explain that it is not her sweater.

Rachel, while still silent, attempts to cope by thinking about happy thoughts. She thinks about her birthday dinner that evening. She also thinks about the birthday cake Mama is making and everyone singing happy birthday. As I read I viewed her frustration and found another place in the text when this happened. "I squeeze them (eyes) shut tight and bite down on my teeth real hard and try to remember I am eleven, eleven." This shows me that even though she is close to tears in frustration, she still tries to think about the happy family time that will happen later that day.

A few moments later, Rachel is intimidated even more when Mrs. Price says, "You put that sweater on right now and no more nonsense." Rachel is still frustrated and tries to cope when she tells Mrs. Price that it is not her sweater. Another example of this is when Mrs. Price replied loudly, "Now!" Rachel is silenced again by an adult and now she's feeling that she doesn't even want to be eleven, while fighting back tears.

As you can see from Rachel's experience, children are often intimidated and silenced when in the company of adults. In families and in school, children are silenced many times by older family members or schoolmates. As a reader I really empathized with Rachel and her struggle to communicate with Mrs. Price. Not all of us are as lucky as Rachel to have such great coping skills. I admired how she was able to control her frustration and her tears, so that she would not be further humiliated by her teacher and even more embarrassed in front of her peers. Schools and communities everywhere should reach out and teach adults that they need to be aware of the power they have, which can cause children to feel intimidated and fall silent.

Teaching and Learning Argumentative Writing in High School English Language Arts Classrooms George E. Newell, David Bloome, Alan Hirvela, 2015-06-05 Focused on the teaching and learning argumentative writing in grades 9-12, this important contribution to literacy education research and classroom practice offers a new perspective, a set of principled practices, and case studies of excellent teaching. The case studies illustrate teaching and learning argumentative writing as the construction of knowledge and new understandings about experiences, ideas, and texts. Six themes key to teaching argumentative writing as a thoughtful, multi-leveled practice for deep learning and expression are presented: teaching and learning argumentative writing as social practice; teachers' epistemological beliefs about argumentative writing; variations in instructional chains; instructional conversations in support of argumentative writing; deep learning and appreciation of multiple perspectives; contextualized analysis of argumentative writing and the teaching and learning of argumentative writing; and the construction of rationalities. Performance Standards: Middle school New Standards (Organization), 1997

Common Core Standards for High School English Language Arts Susan Ryan, Dana Frazee, 2012-10-18 Smart implementation of the Common Core State Standards requires both an overall understanding of the standards and a grasp of their implications for planning teaching and learning. This Quick Start Guide provides a succinct all-in-one look at the content structure, terminology, and emphases of the Common Core standards for English language arts and literacy at the high school level. The meaning of the individual standards within the four ELA strands—Reading, Writing, Speaking, and Listening and Language—how the standards connect across strands, grade bands, and content areas to help students develop the communication and analytical skills essential for college and career readiness. The areas of the ELA standards that represent the most significant changes to business as usual. Here, teachers and school leaders will find information they need to begin adapting their practices to ensure all students master the new and challenging material the standards present. A practical lesson planning process to use with the Common Core based on Classroom Instruction That Works 2nd Ed is included, along with three sample lessons. LEARN THE ESSENTIALS OF THE COMMON CORE. The grade-level and subject-specific Quick Start Guides in the Understanding the Common Core Standards series, edited by John Kendall, are designed to help school leaders and school staffs turn Common Core standards into coherent, content-rich curriculum and effective classroom-level lessons.

Becoming a Writing Researcher Ann M. Blakeslee, Ann Blakeslee, Cathy Fleischer, 2009-03-04 Becoming a Writing Researcher effectively guides students through the stages of conducting qualitative writing research: from the initial step of seeing themselves as researchers to identifying research questions, selecting appropriate tools, conducting the research, and interpreting and reporting the findings. Authors Ann M. Blakeslee and Cathy Fleischer describe various qualitative methods and provide readers with examples of real-world applications. Exercises and activities, as well as anecdotes from both novice and seasoned researchers, serve to acquaint readers thoroughly with the practice of carrying out research for scholarly or professional purposes The textbook introduces students to research methods in a gradual and contextualized manner Each chapter opens with a discussion of general issues regarding a particular portion of the research process followed by a consideration of the various physical conceptual and strategic tools that allow a beginning researcher to conduct that part of the process Sections within each chapter also cover personal and theoretical perspectives and biases that influence specific stages of the research process ethical issues associated with phases of the research process the identity ethos and experiences of the researcher Becoming a Writing Researcher is an essential text for all novice researchers and is well suited for use in graduate level research methods courses in composition and technical communication It is also ideal for use in other disciplines with strong qualitative methodology research programs including education
