Thinking through Landscape Augustin Berque, 2020-09-23 Our attitude to nature has changed over time This book explores the historical literary and philosophical origins of the changes in our attitude to nature that allowed environmental catastrophes to happen The book presents a philosophical reflection on human societies attitude to the environment informed by the history of the concept of landscape and the role played by the concept of nature in the human imagination It features a wealth of examples from around the world to help understand the contemporary environmental crisis in the context of both the built and natural environment Berque locates the start of this change in human labour and urban elites being cut off from nature Nature became an imaginary construct masking our real interaction with the natural world He argues that this gave rise to a theoretical and literary appreciation of landscape at the expense of an effective practical engagement with nature This mindset is a general feature of the world's civilizations manifested in similar ways in different cultures across Europe

China North Africa and Australia Yet this approach did not have disastrous consequences until the advent of western industrialization As a phenomenological hermeneutics of human societies environmental relation to nature the book draws on Heideggerian ontology and Veblen's sociology It provides a powerful distinction between two attitudes to landscape the tacit knowledge of earlier peoples engaged in creating the landscape through their work landscaping thought and the explicit theoretical and aesthetic attitudes of modern city dwellers who love nature while belonging to a civilization that destroys the landscape landscape thinking This book gives a critical survey of landscape thought and theory for students researchers and anyone interested in human societies relation to nature in the fields of landscape studies environmental philosophy cultural geography and environmental history Geographers Patrick H. Armstrong, Geoffrey Martin, 2015-12-14 An annual collection of studies of individuals who have made major contributions to the development of geography and geographical thought Subjects are drawn from all periods and from all parts of the world and include famous names as well as those less well known explorers independent thinkers and scholars Each paper describes the geographer's education life and work and discusses their influence and spread of academic ideas Each study includes a select bibliography and brief chronology The work includes a general index and a cumulative index of geographers listed in volumes published to date The Assassination of Paris Louis Chevalier, 1994-04 Much of Louis Chevalier's Paris faced the wrecking ball in the 1950s 60s and 70s as Georges Pompidou Andre Malraux and their cadres of technocratic elites sought to proclaim the glory of the new France by reinventing its capital in brutal visions of glass and steel A Basic Bibliography for the Study of the Semitic Languages J.H. Hoppers, 2023-11-13 This bibliography lists as completely as possible all monographs and articles necessary for adequate study of Semitic languages It covers the field in the widest sense Besides sections dealing with Akkadian Ugaritic Phoenician Punic Amarna Canaanite Hebrew Syriac and Aramaic epigraphic South Arabian Ethiopian languages and one on comparative Semitics there are others dealing with Sumerian Anatolian languages Hurrian Urartian Elamitic and ancient Persian Routledge Revivals: The Rape of the Masses (1940) Serge Chakotin, 2017-09-29 First published in French in 1939 and later in English in 1940 this work by the author analyses and strongly critiques the effect of Nazi propaganda on the psychology of the masses By bringing together the political and the psychological the author refers to the use of propaganda in order to serve the ends of a handful of men as psychical rape and warns that this phenomenon cannot be attributed solely to the Nazi regime The English translation was updated to account for the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939 It will be of great interest to anyone studying the Second World War Nazism Fascism and the psychology of propaganda Key Ideas for a Contemporary Psychoanalysis Andre Green, 2012-10-02 Andr Green attempts the complex task of identifying and examining the key ideas for a contemporary psychoanalytic practice This undertaking is motivated both by the need for an outline of the evolution of psychoanalysis since Freud's death and by the hope of tackling the fragmentation which has led to the current crisis of psychoanalysis In three sections covering the theoretical and practical aspects of psychoanalysis and analysing the current state of the field Andr Green provides a stimulating overview of the principal concepts that have guided his work Subjects covered include Transference and countertransference Psychoanalysis and Psychotherapy modalities and results Language speech discourse in psychoanalysis Recognition of the unconscious This unique contemporary perspective on the psychoanalytic enterprise will fascinate all those with an interest in the problems that face the field and the opportunities for its future development

Atlas, or the Anxious Gay Science Georges Didi-Huberman, Shane B. Lillis, 2018-10-11 Aby Warburg's Mnemosyne Atlas 1925-1929 is a prescient work of mixed media assemblage made up of hundreds of images culled from antiquity to the Renaissance and arranged into startling juxtapositions Warburg's allusive atlas sought to illuminate the pains of his final years after he had suffered a breakdown and been institutionalized It continues to influence contemporary artists today including Gerhard Richter and Mark Dion In this illustrated exploration of Warburg and his great work Georges Didi-Huberman leaps from Mnemosyne Atlas into a set of musings on the relation between suffering and knowledge in Western thought and on the creative results of associative thinking Deploying writing that delights in dramatic jump cuts reminiscent of Warburg's idiosyncratic juxtapositions and drawing on a set of sources that ranges from ancient Babylon to Walter Benjamin Atlas or the Anxious Gay Science is rich in Didi-Huberman's trademark combination of élan and insight

Children with a Star Deborah Dwork, 1991-01-01 The book is based on hundreds of oral histories conducted in Europe and North America with survivors who were children in the Holocaust primary documentation uncovered by the author including diaries letters photographs and family albums and archival records Drawing on these sources Dwork reveals the feeling daily activities and perceptions of Jewish children who lived and died in the shadow of Holocaust She reconstructs and analyzes the many different experiences the children faced In the early years of Nazi domination they lived at home increasingly oppressed by rising anti-Semitism Later some went into hiding while others attempted to live openly on gentile papers As time passed more and more were forced into transit camps ghettos and death and slave labour camps Although nearly 90 percent of the Jewish children in Nazi Europe were murdered we learn in this history not of their deaths but of the circumstances of their lives and the human worlds from various perspectives that include anthropotechnology Anthropocene technological and vital norms and temporalities The final section Innovating in Ethics Design and Aesthetics brings together contributions that draw on various French traditions to afford fresh insights on ethics of technology philosophy of design techno aesthetics and digital studies The contributions in this volume are vivid and rich in original approaches that can spur exchanges and debates with other philosophical traditions

Homo Anthropologicus Jean-François Chanlat, 2024-07-05 Skilfully analysing the challenges posed by management practices to the human condition Jean François Chanlat examines the sociological evolution of modern management This book acts as a crucial pedagogical guide to the history and essence of managerial operations

Abraham Heschel and the Phenomenon of Piety Joseph Harp Britton, 2013-12-19 Piety is often regarded with a pejorative bias a pious person is thought to be overly religious supercilious even Yet historically the concept of piety has played an important role in Christian theology and practice For Abraham Heschel piety describes the contours of a life compatible with God's presence While much has been made of Heschel's concept of pathos relatively little attention has been given to the pivotal role of piety in his thought with the result that the larger methodological implications of his work for both Jewish and Christian theology have been overlooked Grounding Heschel's work in Husserl Dilthey Schiller and Heidegger the book explores his phenomenological method of penetrating the consciousness of the pious person in order to perceive the divine reality behind it The book goes on to consider the significance of Heschel's methodology in view of the theocentric ethics of Gustafson and Hauerwas and the post modern context reflected in the works of Levinas Vattimo Marion and the Radical Orthodoxy movement

A Literary Anthropology of Migration and Belonging Cicilie Fagerlid, Michelle A.

Tisdell, 2020-01-30 This collection pushes migration and the minor to the fore of literary anthropology What happens when authors who thematize their minority background articulate notions of belonging self and society in literature The contributors use interface ethnography and fieldwork on foot to analyze a broad selection of literature and processes of dialogic engagement The chapters discuss German speaking Herta Müller's perpetual minority status in Romania Bengali Scottish Bashabi Fraser and the potentiality of poetry vagrant pastoralism and heritagization in Puglia Italy the self representation of European Muslims post 9 11 in Zeshan Shakar's acclaimed Norwegian novel the autobiographical narratives of Loveleen Rihel Brenna and the artist collective Queendom in Norway the immigrant as a permanent guest in Spanish language children's literature and Slovenian roots searching in Argentina This anthology examines the generative and transformative potentials of storytelling while illustrating that literary anthropology is well equipped to examine the multiple contexts that literature engages Chapter 4 of this book is available open access under a CC By 4 0 license at link.springer.com

Visual and Linguistic Representations of Places of Origin Maria Pia Pozzato, 2017-12-05 This book is about the representations both visual and linguistic which people give of their own places of origin It examines the drawings of interviewees who were asked to draw their own place of origin on a white A3 sheet using pencil or colour according to their choice. If they were born in a place they did not remember because they moved in when they were very small, they could draw the place they did remember as the scenario of their early childhood. The drawings are examined from three different perspectives: semiotics, cognitive psychology, and geography. The semiotic instruments are used to describe how each person reconstructs a complex image of his/her childhood place and how they translate their own memories from one language to another, e.g., from drawing to verbal story, trying to approach what they want to express in the best possible way. The cognitive psychological point of view helps clarify the emotional world of the interviewees and their motivations during the process of reconstruction and expression of their childhood experiences. The geographical conceptualizations concern a cultural level and provide insight into the cartographic models that inspire the maps people drew. One of the main findings was the influence from cultural codes as demonstrated in the fact that most of the US students interviewed drew their maps showing considerable cartographic expertise in comparison to their European counterparts.

Piaget's Theory Harry Beilin, Peter B. Pufall, 2013-04-15. This volume marks the 20th Anniversary Symposium of the Jean Piaget Society. Some of the American contributors were among the first to introduce Piaget to developmental and educational psychology in the United States, while some of the international contributors worked with Piaget to develop his program of genetic epistemology and continue to make significant contributions to it. Within this volume, the possibility of Piaget's paradigm is reviewed not only as the stuff of normal science, yielding fascinating empirical questions that linger within it, but also, and more importantly, as the stuff of revolutionary science with continuing potential to comprehensively structure our thinking about developmental theory. The constructive contribution Piaget's theory has for developmental theory emerges as four central themes in the volume: understanding the intentional or semantic aspect of mental life without abandoning the Piagetian assumption that is rational and committed to truth testing; examining mental life and its development as a dialectical relation of function and structure; a relation Piaget introduced in his study of the developmental relation between procedural and operational knowledge; exploring new and interdisciplinary perspectives on equilibration as the driving force of constructive adaptive processes; understanding social and historical forces in individual and cultural development not necessarily as forces antithetical to Piaget's perspective but as forces that take on new meaning within his framework, which avoids erroneous dichotomies such as the distinction between subjective and objective knowledge.

Wrong-Doing, Truth-Telling Michel Foucault, 2014-06-04. Three years before his death, Michel Foucault delivered a series of lectures at the Catholic University of Louvain that until recently remained almost unknown. These lectures, which focus on the role of avowal or confession in the determination of truth and justice, provide the missing link between Foucault's early work on madness, delinquency, and sexuality and his later explorations of subjectivity in Greek and Roman antiquity. Ranging broadly from Homer to the twentieth century, Foucault traces the early use of truth-telling in ancient Greece and follows it through to practices of self-examination in monastic times. By the nineteenth century, the avowal of wrongdoing was no longer sufficient to satisfy the call for justice; there remained the question of who the criminal was and what formative factors contributed to his wrong doing The call for psychiatric expertise marked the birth of the discipline of psychiatry in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries as well as its widespread recognition as the foundation of criminology and modern criminal justice Published here for the first time the 1981 lectures have been superbly translated by Stephen W Sawyer and expertly edited and extensively annotated by Fabienne Brion and Bernard E Harcourt They are accompanied by two contemporaneous interviews with Foucault in which he elaborates on a number of the key themes An essential companion to Discipline and Punish Wrong Doing Truth Telling will take its place as one of the most significant works of Foucault to appear in decades and will be necessary reading for all those interested in his thought

Cognitive Semiotics Claudio Paolucci, 2021-02-01 This volume serves as a reference on the field of cognitive semantics It offers a systematic and original discussion of the issues at the core of the debate in semiotics and the cognitive sciences It takes into account the problems of representation the nature of mind the structure of perception beliefs associated with habits social cognition autism intersubjectivity and subjectivity The chapters in this volume present the foundation of semiotics as a theory of cognition offer a semiotic model of cognitive integration that combines Enactivism and the Extended Mind Theory and investigate the role of imagination as the origin of perception The author develops an account of beliefs that are associated with habits and meaning grounded in Pragmatism testing his Narrative Practice Semiotic Hypothesis on persons with autism spectrum disorders He also integrates his ideas about the formation of the theory of mind with a theory of subjectivity understood as self consciousness which derives from semiotic cognitive abilities This text appeals to students professors and researchers in the field
