- The student will determine explicit ideas and information in text, including main idea, supporting details, implied message and inferences, and chronological order of events.

Making inferences involves using personal experience/background knowledge/schema, along with the information in the text, to make assumptions about what is NOT written. Interential thinking is often referred to as "reading between and beyond the lines." Inferring is required when part of the knowledge to understand a passage is found in the text but some is not. - How are observations and known information useful in making an inference?
