Methodological Choice and Design Lina Markauskaite, Peter Freebody, Jude Irwin, 2010-11-04 Beginning and well seasoned researchers alike face significant challenges in understanding the complexities of research designs arising from both within and across methodological paradigms and in applying them in ways that maximise impact on knowledge, practice and policy. This volume engages educational and social researchers in a scholarly debate offering some crucial re-interpretations of established research methodologies in light of contemporary conditions and critical introduction to some contemporary research approaches yet to gain general recognition. This book is a contemporary vademecum for researchers, practitioners and graduate students on research methodologies and designs for educational and social change in today's world. The chapters chart and analyse the conceptual and practical complexities of a variety of research designs for contemporary educational and social work research. This anthology taken overall provides readers with the knowledge and understanding needed not only to design technically sound and coherent research studies but also to develop methodologically innovative research projects that cross the boundaries between different methodological traditions to the benefit of scholarship, policy and practice. The chapters cover nine research approaches: Design based research, Action research, Ethnomethodological research, Negotiated ethnography, Arts informed research, Historical analysis and postcolonial scholarship, Policy analysis, Comparative research, Quantitative modelling of correlational and multi level data. The book provides a critical discussion of epistemological questions and methodological frontiers, Knowledge and epistemology in scholarship, practice and policy, Digital knowledge and digital research, Emerging methodological challenges for educational research, Challenges and futures for social work and social policy research, methods, Methodology and the knowledge industry

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Early Childhood Transitions Research Aline-Wendy Dunlop, Sally Peters, Sharon Lynn Kagan, 2024-09-19 Research into early childhood transitions has become a field in its own right. It is increasingly understood that a positive start in any new setting can influence the child's engagement, sense of belonging, well-being, progression in learning and agency and may be dependent on the insight of educators and families and yet there is no research methodology or research methods book dedicated to this growing field of study. Including 27 chapters written by researchers from the UK, New Zealand, the USA, Sweden, Iceland, Australia and Canada, this handbook presents an overview of the field, exploring its current debates, reflects on its history and offers suggestions for the future of the field. This book is an essential reference point for anyone studying or undertaking research into transitions in early childhood.

Primary Mathematics Across the Curriculum Diane Vaukins, Alice Hansen, 2011-06-21. This book supports trainee teachers working towards primary QTS in how to teach primary mathematics across all areas of the curriculum. Focused on teaching a more integrated and inclusive curriculum, the text draws out meaningful cross-curricular links and embraces the latest thinking and current good practice. It begins with a section on teaching mathematics covering the strands of the curriculum and goes on to offer guidance on the use and application of mathematics more generally across subjects. The effective use of data is examined, as is using mathematics to enhance learning, and case studies and activities are included throughout.

Research Ethics in Second Language Education Roger Barnard, Yi Wang, 2020-12-30. This book makes a fresh contribution to the field of research ethics by considering research issues through relatable autobiographical narratives. The book's core offers narratives by novice second language education researchers who are completing PhD degrees using data from international research participants. These narratives expose challenges regarding the ethical identity of researchers working across diverse value and belief systems. The narrative chapters are followed by four chapters of commentaries from a line-up of international scholars with various academic, linguistic and cultural backgrounds. The case study approach reports the experiences and reflections of research students before, during and after the data collection phase of their projects and offers insights into the recruitment of participants, acquiring and maintaining access, interpretations of the notion of informed consent, incentivising participants, the implications of ensuring anonymity and confidentiality, the right to withdraw participation and data, the positioning of the researcher as insider or outsider, potential conflicts of interest, the potential harm to participants and researcher, and the dissemination of findings. This practical and relatable book is aimed at research students and their supervisors in fields such as applied linguistics and education, as well as those following methods courses to help illustrate the ethical challenges faced by researchers in the process of collecting qualitative data.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY IN BEHAVIOURAL SCIENCES S. K. MANGAL, SHUBHRA MANGAL, 2013-08-22. The quality and productivity of a research work very much depends on the competency of the researchers. Such competency needs to be generated and nurtured properly among the researchers from the very beginning of their research career. This comprehensive book on research methodology discusses in detail how to carry out research studies in various disciplines of behavioural sciences in an organized manner. The book is meant for the postgraduate students of Education, M Ed, Sociology, Psychology and Management. In addition, it will also be useful to research
