Kid Marriage: Why is the Act Performed Throughout Countries Worldwide? According to the International Center for Research Study on Women, "if present kid marital relationship trends continue, more than 142 million girls worldwide will be forced to marry adult men during the next decade-the equivalent of 38,000 ladies every day." Kid marriage is specified as marital relationship before the age of eighteen (International Center for Research Study on Women, 2012). This marital relationship is normally forced and comes as a shock to the girl. Any day, at anytime, a young girl can be taken from her home, offered, wed off, and forced to live a life filled with dangers, violence, and abuse. When I first heard of child marital relationship I assumed that it occurs in nations that aren't that well off, whom are still living in poverty. I was shocked when I learnt that kid marriage is a practice impacting ladies all over the world: Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and in some neighborhoods in Europe and the Americans (Worden, 2010). I wish to discover out all the typical concerns one would ask about an issue worldwide today: how, when, who, where, and WHY does child marital relationship even happen in all of these nations ?! After investigating these concerns in depth, among a few of these nations I wish to look into what child marriage might share in these different nations. In Afghanistan, stats show that an estimate of 67 percent of all marriages are forced and around 57 percent of ladies are married before the age of 16. (The Afghanistan Independent Human Being Rights Commission, 2010). Kid marriage happens in Afghanistan regardless of particular laws that have actually been made, due to culture and traditions, security of the child, and economic problems households might face. Kid marriage has actually belonged to Afghan culture for countless years, and trying to rid a country of a culture event angers a lot of the individuals living in Afghanistan. Child marital relationship is understood to be apart of Afghan culture as a form of protection. When one attempts to put an end to kid marriage in Afghanistan, the Afghans see this as breaking the culture and traditions of the neighborhood (Yousef, 2013). Parents of a young girl, believe they are doing the right thing by selling, giving away, or exchanging their child because they know she will be clothed, fed, and sheltered from the violence and sexual abuse that the country of Afghanistan is faced with. Under Afghanistans constitution, the minimum age for females is 16, but in rural and urban areas the tradition of marrying off daughters while young in order to receive money remains common among the poor. (Irinnews.org) Families living in poverty is one of the reasons child marriage is so high in Afghanistan. Some Afghan families can't afford to take care of their children once they are born, so their best solution is marrying off their daughters. They view this as "if she gets married, she will have something for herself". (Yousef, 2013) As if child marriage isn't a problem already, a huge problem arises once the marriage...
