APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION TO THE HONORS PROGRAM 2014-2015

The Political Science Department invites current sophomore and junior majors with excellent academic records to apply for admission to our Honors Program, to be taught by Professor Dennis Chong (Professor and Chair, Department of Political Science). Students admitted to the program write an Honors thesis on a political science topic of their choice. Students who complete successfully the requirements of the program will graduate with Honors in Political Science, a distinction that will be designated on their transcripts. The best Honors theses will be considered for publication in the Department's Undergraduate Political Science Journal.

Admitted students enroll in a two-semester honors thesis seminar, Political Science 391 (Fall Semester) and 392 (Spring Semester). During the Fall semester, students will participate in weekly meetings to discuss the elements of social science research and to develop their research proposals; during the Spring semester, students undertake their research and writing of the honors paper. Students will present their papers to the seminar at the end of the Spring Semester.

Admission to the program is based on a competitive application process. Honors students must have a minimum college and departmental GPA of 3.5.
