Rethinking Virtual Places Erik M. Champion,2021-11-30 How would the humanities change if we grappled with the ways in which digital and virtual places are designed experienced and critiqued In Rethinking Virtual Places Erik Malcolm Champion draws from the fields of computational sciences and other place related disciplines to argue for a more central role for virtual space in the humanities For instance recent developments in neuroscience could improve our understanding of how people experience store and recollect place related encounters Similarly game mechanics using virtual place design might make digital environments more engaging and learning content more powerful and salient In addition Champion provides a brief introduction to new and emerging software and devices and explains how they help hinder or replace our traditional means of designing and exploring places Perfect for humanities scholars fascinated by the potential of virtual space Rethinking Virtual Places challenges both traditional and recent evaluation methods to address the complicated problem of understanding how people evaluate and engage with the notion of place Social Studies Through Children's Literature Anthony D. Fredericks,1991-10-15 Use this activity centered literature based approach to get students excited about social studies These 32 units have summaries of books social studies topic areas lists of content related words curricular perspectives and critical thinking questions as well as myriad activities Fredericks also gives you an excellent annotated bibliography of children s literature and a list of social studies resources Report of the Commissioner of Education [with Accompanying Papers]. Digital Scholarship in the Tenure, Promotion, and Review Process Deborah Lines

Andersen,2003-09-04 To receive tenure college and university professors have long been required to write scholarly monographs or articles engage in serious research and teach effectively In recent years however the emergence of digital scholarship has revolutionized and complicated the picture in unexpected ways as new electronic media have enabled academics to communicate scholarly material in innovative formats such as websites PowerPoint presentations CD ROMs and virtual reality tours Despite this growing output of sophisticated digital scholarship there has been little attempt to set standards define basic issues and concepts or integrate electronic scholarship into the tenure debate This collection of cutting edge articles marks the first effort to evaluate the place of digital scholarship in the tenure promotion and review process As a primer aimed at scholars faculty members and department chairs in the humanities social sciences and other fields as well as deans provosts and university administrators this collection examines the evolution of nontraditional scholarship analyzes the various formats and suggests guidelines for assessment on a scholarly level It also examines the impact of digital scholarship in the classroom and academy and explores new directions for the future This book will help shape policy in the murky world of tenure review and could become a central text for scholars and administrators everywhere
