Nextdoor Model :

The Polyamorists Next Door Elisabeth Sheff, 2013-11-26 Marriage and monogamy are not what they used to be and today many couples are opting to start families before getting married or deciding not to get married at all. At the same time, gay couples in states that recognize same sex marriage are getting married in droves. Some people prefer non monogamy and have relationships that include swinging and polyamory. The landscape of American marriage and relationships is changing and a variety of family systems are developing and becoming more common. The Polyamorists Next Door introduces polyamorous families in which people are free to pursue emotional romantic and sexual relationships with multiple people at the same time openly and with support from their partners, sometimes forming multi partner relationships or other arrangements that allow for emotional and sexual freedom within the family system. In colorful and moving details, this book explores how polyamorous relationships come to be, grow and change, manage the ins and outs of daily family life and cope with the challenges they face both within their families and from society at large. Using polyamorists' own words, Dr. Elisabeth Sheff examines polyamorous households and reveals their advantages, disadvantages, and the daily lives of those living in them. While polyamorous families are increasingly common, fairly little is known about them outside of their own social circles or of the occasional media sensationalism. This book provides information that will be useful for professionals with polyamorous clients, educators who wish to understand or teach about polyamory, and especially people who wish to better understand polyamory themselves or explain it to their potential partners, adult children, or in laws.

1960s Model Girl Felice McDowell, 2025-06-26 Examining histories of post war Britain, fashion modelling, photography and popular culture, 1960s Model Girl: Narrative Identities in Fashion Time and History explores model girl narratives found throughout media, fashion magazines, advice literature, auto biographies, and fashion exhibits. Introducing theories of history, life writing, and narrative identity, 1960s Model Girl demonstrates how these can be applied to the study of fashion and shows how fashion studies opens new pathways to understanding identity and emergent British femininities. Drawing on a wealth of archival research, case studies include teen fashion magazines Petticoat and Model Girl, advice writing of model agent Lucie Clayton, and fashion journalist Suzy Menkes' autobiographies of fashion models Jean Shrimpton and Twiggy, and the Mary Quant exhibition at the Victoria and Albert Museum, London, 2019-2020. This book provides an intricate study of a varied and manifold figure whose impact and influence spreads further afield than a particular time, place, and professional context. Closely attending to a range of model girl narratives, 1960s Model Girl illuminates the cultural past and in turn sheds light on our own historical present.

The Government Next Door Luigi Tomba,2014-08-21 Chinese residential communities are places of intense governing and an arena of active political engagement between state and society In The Government Next Door Luigi Tomba investigates how the goals of a government consolidated in a distant authority materialize in citizens everyday lives Chinese neighborhoods reveal much about the changing nature of governing practices in the country Government action is driven by the need to preserve social and political stability but such priorities must adapt to the progressive privatization of urban residential space and an increasingly complex set of societal forces Tomba's vivid ethnographic accounts of neighborhood life and politics in Beijing Shenyang and Chengdu depict how such local translation of government priorities takes place Tomba reveals how different clusters of residential space are governed more or less intensely depending on the residents' social status how disgruntled communities with high unemployment are still managed with the pastoral strategies typical of the socialist tradition while high income neighbors are allowed greater autonomy in exchange for a greater concern for social order Conflicts are contained by the gated structures of the neighborhoods to prevent systemic challenges to the government and middle class lifestyles have become exemplars of a new responsible form of citizenship At times of conflict and in daily interactions the penetration of the state discourse about social stability becomes clear

The Changs Next Door to the Díazes

Wendy Cheng, 2013-11-01 U S suburbs are typically imagined to be predominantly white communities but this is increasingly untrue in many parts of the country Examining a multiracial suburb that is decidedly nonwhite Wendy Cheng unpacks questions of how identity especially racial identity is shaped by place She offers an in depth portrait enriched by nearly seventy interviews of the San Gabriel Valley not far from downtown Los Angeles where approximately 60 percent of residents are Asian American and more than 30 percent are Latino At first glance the cities of the San Gabriel Valley look like stereotypical suburbs but almost no one who lives there is white The Changs Next Door to the Diazes reveals how a distinct culture is being fashioned in and simultaneously reshaping an environment of strip malls multifamily housing and faux Mediterranean tract homes Informed by her interviews as well as extensive analysis of three episodic case studies Cheng argues that people's daily experiences in neighborhoods schools civic organizations and public space deeply influence their racial consciousness In the San Gabriel Valley racial ideologies are being reformulated by these encounters Cheng views everyday landscapes as crucial terrains through which racial hierarchies are learned instantiated and transformed She terms the process regional racial formation through which locally accepted racial orders and hierarchies complicate and often challenge prevailing notions of race There is a place specific state of mind here Cheng finds Understanding the processes of racial formation in the San Gabriel Valley in the contemporary moment is important in itself but also has larger value as a model for considering the spatial dimensions of racial formation and the significant demographic shifts taking place across the national landscape
