especially helpful to identify population groups that merit further assessment of exposure sources or health effects To assess the effectiveness of public health efforts to reduce exposure of Americans to specific chemicals To determine whether exposure levels are higher among such potentially vulnerable groups as minorities and children To track over time trends in levels of exposure of the population To set priorities for research on human health effects Second National Report on Human Exposure to Environmental Chemicals National Center for Environmental Health,2003 Fourth National Report on Human Exposure to Environmental Chemicals Centers for Disease Control and Prevention,2014-05-15 The Fourth Report uses a new procedure to estimate percentiles when the percentile estimate falls on a value that is repeated multiple times e g five results that all have the value 90 1 Percentiles for all three NHANES survey periods 1999 2000 2001 2002 2003 2004 have been re computed by use of this improved procedure Only slight differences should be noted when one compares the re computations to previous releases of the Report Details of this procedure are provided in Appendix A
