Reproductive Decision Making In A Macro Micro Perspective:

Reproductive Decision-Making in a Macro-Micro Perspective Dimiter Philipov, Aart C. Liefbroer, Jane E.

Klobas, 2014-10-17 This book provides new insights into the significant gap that currently exists between desired and actual fertility in Europe. It examines how people make decisions about having children and demonstrates how the macro level environment affects micro level decision making. Written by an international team of leading demographers and psychologists, the book presents the theoretical and methodological developments of a three year European Commission funded project named REPRO: Reproductive Decision Making in a Macro Micro Perspective. It also provides an overview of the research conducted by REPRO researchers both during and after the project. The book examines fertility intentions from quantitative and qualitative perspectives, demonstrates how the macro level environment affects micro level decision making, and offers a multi level analysis of fertility related norms across Europe. Overall, this book offers insight into how people make decisions to have children when they are most likely to act on their decisions and how different social and policy settings affect their decisions and actions. It will appeal to researchers, graduate students, and policy advisors with an interest in fertility demography and life course decision making.

Proceedings of the 21st International Symposium on Advancement of Construction Management and Real Estate K. W. Chau, Isabelle Y.S. Chan, Weisheng Lu, Chris Webster, 2017-12-18 This book presents the proceedings of CRIOCM_2016 21st International Conference on Advancement of Construction Management and Real Estate, sharing the latest developments in real estate and construction management around the globe. The conference was organized by the Chinese Research Institute of Construction Management (CRIOCM) working in close collaboration with the University of Hong Kong. Covering a wide range of topics including building information modelling, big data, geographic information systems, housing policies, management of infrastructure projects, occupational health and safety, real estate finance and economics, urban planning, and sustainability, the discussions provide valuable insights into the implementation of advanced construction project management and the real estate market in China and abroad. The book is an outstanding reference resource for academics and professionals alike.

Advanced Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data-Sets Agostino Di Ciaccio, Mauro Coli, Jose Miguel Angulo Ibanez, 2012-03-05 The theme of the meeting was Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data Sets. In recent years, there has been increasing interest in this subject; in fact, a huge quantity of information is often available, but standard statistical techniques are usually not well suited to managing this kind of data. The conference serves as an important meeting point for European researchers working on this topic, and a number of European statistical societies participated in the organization of the event. The book includes 45 papers from a selection of the 156 papers accepted for presentation and discussed at the conference on Advanced Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data.

sets The Social Meaning of Children and Fertility Change in Europe Anne Lise Ellingsaeter, An-Magritt Jensen, Merete Lie, 2013-03-05 Low fertility in Europe has given rise to the notion of a fertility crisis This book shifts the attention from fertility decline to why people do have children asking what children mean to them It investigates what role children play in how young adults plan their lives and why and how young adults make the choices they do The book aims to expand our comprehension of the complex structures and cultures that influence reproductive choice and explores three key aspects of fertility choices the processes towards having or not having children and how they are underpinned by negotiations and ambivalences how family policies labour markets and personal relations interact in young adults fertility choices social differentiation in fertility choice how fertility rationales and reasoning may differ among women and men and across social classes Based on empirical studies from six nations France Scandinavia Denmark Norway Sweden Germany and Italy representing the high and low end of European variation in fertility rates the book shows how different economic political and cultural contexts interact in young adults fertility rationales It will be of interest to students and scholars of sociology anthropology demography and gender studies Entrepreneurship and Development in the 21st Century Bruno S. Sergi, Cole C. Low and Lower Fertility Ronald R. Rindfuss, Minja Kim Choe, 2015-10-12 This volume examines two distinct low fertility scenarios that have emerged in economically advanced countries since the turn of the 20th century one in which fertility is at or near replacement level and the other where fertility is well below replacement It explores the way various institutions histories and cultures influence fertility in a diverse range of countries in Asia Europe North America and Australia The book features invited papers from the Conference on Low Fertility Population Aging and Population Policy held December 2013 and co sponsored by the East West Center and the Korea Institute for Health and Social Affairs KIHASA It first presents an overview of the demographic and policy implications of the two low fertility scenarios Next the book explores five countries currently experiencing low fertility rates China Hong Kong Japan Singapore and South Korea It then examines three countries that have close to replacement level fertility Australia the Netherlands and the United States Each country is featured in a separate chapter written by a demographer with expert knowledge in the area Very low fertility is linked to a number of conditions countries face including a declining population size At the same time low fertility and its effect on the age structure threatens social welfare policies This book goes beyond the technical to examine the core institutional policy and cultural factors behind this increasingly important issue It helps readers to make cross country comparisons and gain insight into how diverse institutions policies and culture shape fertility levels and patterns

Dare to Share: Germany's Experience Promoting Equal Partnership in Families OECD, 2017-02-20 This review introduces the background to and issues at stake in promoting equal partnerships in families in Germany

From One Child to Two Children Shibei Ni, 2023-12-30 This book dissects the reproductive intentions and behaviours of the one child generation cohort in China situated in the wider context of changing family life patterns and gendered lenses Demonstrating that the one child family is still favoured by the one child generation this book uncovers the socioeconomic dimensions and mechanisms of family relations underlying young people s decision making processes It also incorporates individual considerations and experiences of childbearing from over 50 interviews to contribute to the development of China s social policy Whereas men s childbearing beliefs were relatively unexplored in the literature the author included male interviewees to better reflect gender differences in relation to childbearing employment and family Analysing the relationship between life routine and the desire or lack thereof to increase China s population the author argues that the current childbearing policy fails to accommodate the needs and demands of young people thus limiting the uptake of China s new policy
