Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were randomly assigned to a control group (CG) and an exercise group (EG). The EG performed a 10-week training program consisting of 30 minutes of aerobic exercise, 3 times per week. The CG remained sedentary. The HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week period. The EG showed a significant decrease in both HR and BP compared to the CG. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.

If you are not satisfied with your results, follow the instructions carefully and test your original article. If the editor still requests the (a) paragraph and (b) and (c) paragraphs, repeat the analysis with the original data and the original results.
