Remembering Babylon New Edition:

David Malouf Don Randall,2013-07-19 Don Randall's comprehensive study situates Malouf within the field of contemporary international and postcolonial writing but without losing sight of the author's affiliation with Australian contexts The book presents an original reading of Malouf finding the unity of his work in the continuity of his ethical concerns for Malouf human lives find their value in transformations specifically in instances of self overcoming that encounters with difference or otherness provoke However the book is fully aware of and informed by the quite ample body of criticism on Malouf and thus provides readers with a broad based understanding of how Malouf's works have been received and assessed It is an effective companion volume for studies in postcolonial or Australian literature for any study project in which Malouf figures prominently

Contemporary Issues in Australian Literature David Callahan,2014-02-25 The contemporary study of Australian literature ranges widely across issues of general cultural studies the politics of identity both ethnic and gendered and the position of Australia within wider postcolonial contexts This volume intervenes in the most significant of issues in these areas from a variety of international perspectives

Reinventing Allegory Theresa M. Kelley,1997-07-24 First published in 1997 Reinventing Allegory asks how and why allegory has survived as a literary mode from the late Renaissance to the postmodern present Three chapters on Romanticism including one on the painter J M W Turner present this era as the pivotal moment in allegory's modern survival Other chapters describe larger historical and philosophical contexts including classical rhetoric and Spenser Milton and seventeenth century rhetoric Neoclassical distrust of allegory and recent theory and metafiction By using a series of key historical moments to define the special character of modern allegory this study offers an important framework for assessing allegory's role in contemporary literary culture

Horizon Barry Lopez,2019-03-19 ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR THE NEW YORK TIMES NPR THE GUARDIAN From pole to pole and across decades of lived experience National Book Award winning author Barry Lopez delivers his most far ranging yet personal work to date Horizon moves indelibly immersively through the author's travels to six regions of the world from Western Oregon to the High Arctic from the Galapagos to the Kenyan desert from Botany Bay in Australia to finally unforgettably the ice shelves of Antarctica Along the way Lopez probes the long history of humanity's thirst for exploration including the prehistoric peoples who trekked across Skraeling Island in northern Canada the colonialists who plundered Central Africa an enlightenment era Englishman who sailed the Pacific a Native American emissary who found his way into isolationist Japan and today's ecotourists in the tropics And always throughout his journeys to some of the hottest coldest and most desolate places on the globe Lopez searches for meaning and purpose in a broken world

Romantic Science Noah Heringman,2012-02-01 Although romantic science may sound like a paradox much of the romance surrounding modern science the mad scientist the intuitive genius the utopian transformation of nature originated in the Romantic period Romantic Science traces the literary and cultural politics surrounding the formation of the modern scientific disciplines emerging from eighteenth century natural history Revealing how scientific concerns were literary concerns in the Romantic period the contributors uncover the vital role that new discoveries in earth plant and animal sciences played in the period s literary culture As Thomas Pennant put it in 1772 Natural History is at present the favourite science over all Europe and the progress which has been made in it will distinguish and characterise the eighteenth century in the annals of literature As they examine the social and literary ramifications of a particular branch or object of natural history the contributors to this volume historicize our present intellectual landscape by reimagining and redrawing the disciplinary boundaries between literature and science Contributors include Alan Bewell Rachel Crawford Noah Heringman Theresa M Kelley Amy Mae King Lydia H Liu Anne K Mellor Stuart Peterfreund and Catherine E Ross Supplanting the

Postmodern David Rudrum, Nicholas Stavris, 2015-09-24 For more than a decade now a steadily growing chorus of voices has announced that the postmodern literature art thought and culture of the late 20th century have come to an end At the same time as this the early years of the 21st century have seen a stream of critical formulations proclaiming a successor to postmodernism Intriguing and exciting new terms such as remodernism performatism hypermodernism automodernism renewalism altermodernism digimodernism and metamodernism have been coined proposed and debated as terms for what comes after the postmodern Supplanting the Postmodern is the first anthology to collect the key writings in these debates in one place The book is divided into two parts the first The Sense of an Ending presents a range of positions in the debate around the demise of the postmodern the second Coming to Terms with the New presents representative writings from the new isms mentioned above Each of the entries is prefaced by a brief introduction by the editors in which they outline its central ideas point out the similarities and or differences from other positions found in the anthology and suggest possible strengths and limitations to the insights presented in each piece The African Diaspora and the Disciplines Tejumola

Olaniyan, James Hoke Sweet, 2010 Focusing on the problems and conflicts of doing African diaspora research from various disciplinary perspectives these essays situate describe and reflect on the current practice of diaspora scholarship Tejumola Olaniyan James H Sweet and the international group of contributors assembled here seek to enlarge understanding of how the diaspora is conceived and explore possibilities for the future of its study With the aim of initiating interdisciplinary dialogue on the practice of African diaspora studies they emphasize learning from new perspectives that take advantage of intersections between disciplines Ultimately they advocate a fuller sense of what it means to study the African diaspora in a truly global way CONFLUENCES Intercultural Journeying in Research and Teaching David Geoffrey Smith, 2020-03-01 In this book Canadian scholar David Geoffrey Smith reflects on over thirty years of research and teaching in the human sciences including education Written between 1986 and 2018 the essays are organized around four themes Hermeneutics and the Human Sciences The Poststructuralist Turn Globalization and Its Discontents East West Encounters and the Search for Wisdom As a historical guide through the defining discourses in the human sciences this volume could well serve as an introductory text for graduate students in education and other cognate disciplines like nursing recreation and cultural studies The writing can be described as a form of meditative praxis while the emphasis on interculturality addresses issues in literacy pedagogy politics critical thinking teacher education and cultural healing from a geopolitical perspective drawing on insights from both Western and Eastern traditions and the author s personal experience of being born in China and raised in Central Africa Northern Rhodesia Zambia Praise for CONFLUENCES Careful study of the essays in this collection has been an inspiration primarily because of Professor David Geoffrey Smith s deep commitments to the organic interpretability of life and living in the interests of generativity hope and good faith In curricular and pedagogical terms these commitments arise from sustained study of the various inheritances philosophical and otherwise that circulate around deliberations concerning children education and knowledge deemed of most value As an Indigenous scholar and someone committed to uncovering the unnamed colonial logics that continue to govern and structure formal education I find especially helpful Professor Smith s untangling of the roots of the Euro American power nexus and its ongoing difficulties in creatively engaging traditions outside of its own self determinations As Professor Smith teaches through this work it is in the careful hermeneutic practice of tracing out the lineages of the past and revealing their potential for openness in the present that the possibility of saying something hopeful about the future emerges Dwayne Donald Ph D Associate Professor Curriculum Studies and Indigenous Wisdom Traditions Department of Secondary Education University of Alberta Canada Now and then a clear and authentic voice emerges from the surrounding cacophony as the machinery of the education establishment relentlessly grinds away a voice of conscience and wisdom rising above the babble of technocratic bureaucratic ideological and market driven survivalism that permeates educational discourse today I recognize such a voice in this newest book by Canadian educator Professor David Geoffrey Smith Smith s reading the world to use Paulo Freire s expression is particularly helpful to us in today s world teeter tottering between denial and panic I firmly believe that any hope for sanity in our time rests in our collectively and individually investigating how we have gotten ourselves into this current material and existential predicament Smith s investigation shows an incredible intellectual depth of understanding gained through plumbing Western and Eastern philosophical traditions in an intercultural life journey on three continents through forty years of teaching and research I delight in hearing his voice of wisdom that insists for instance that the nature of reality cannot be reduced to any human construct scientific or otherwise and that we must die into a new human freedom found in the joy of a new shared reality Ultimately his is a voice of unwavering hopefulness and a gaze that courageously faces a challenging world I value his work more than any others in the contemporary curriculum theory field Heesoon Bai Professor Philosophy of Education Simon Fraser University Canada

Places of Memory Alan Peshkin, 2013-11-26 While visiting New Mexico the author was struck with the opportunity the state presents to explore the school community relationship in rural religious and multiethnic sociocultural settings In New Mexico the school community relationship can be learned within four major culture groups

Indian Spanish American Mexican and Anglo Together studies of these culture groups form a portrait of schooling in New Mexico further documenting the range of ways that host communities in our educationally decentralized society use the prerogatives of local control to create schools that fit local cultural inclinations The first of four planned volumes this book studies the Pueblo Indians and Indian High School The school is a nonpublic state accredited off reservation boarding school for more than 400 Indian students A large majority of the students are from Pueblo tribes while others are from Navajo and Apache tribes As a state accredited school it subscribes to curricular safety and other requirements of New Mexico As a nonpublic school devoted to Indian students it has the prerogative to be as distinctive as the ethnic group it serves USE SHORT BLURB COPY FOR CATALOGS This ethnography of the Pueblo Indians and Indian High School explores some of the ways that host communities in our decentralized society use the prerogatives of local control to create schools that fit local cultural inclinations

Modernism, Postcolonialism, and Globalism Richard Begam, Michael Valdez Moses, 2018-11-12 As England withdrew from its empire after World War II how did writers living outside the United Kingdom respond to the history of colonialism and the aesthetics of modernism within a global context In fourteen original essays edited by Richard Begam and Michael Valdez Moses a distinguished group of scholars considers these questions in relation to novelists playwrights and poets living in English speaking countries around the world Modernism Postcolonialism and Globalism not only examines how modernism and postcolonialism evolved over several generations but also situates the writers analyzed in terms of canonical realignments inspired by the New Modernist Studies and an array of emerging methodologies and approaches While this volume highlights social and political questions connected with the end of empire it also considers the aesthetics of postcolonialism detailing how writers drew upon responded to and sometimes reacted against the formal innovations of modernism Many of the essays consider the influence modernist artists and movements exercised on postcolonial writers from W B Yeats Joseph Conrad Franz Kafka Marcel Proust James Joyce T S Eliot and Virginia Woolf to Impressionism Expressionism Surrealism and Abstractionism Modernism Postcolonialism and Globalism is organized around six geographic locales and includes essays on Africa Chinua Achebe Ngugi wa Thiong'o Nadine Gordimer J M Coetzee Asia Salman Rushdie Arundhati Roy the Caribbean Jean Rhys Derek Walcott V S Naipaul Ireland Samuel Beckett Seamus Heaney Australia New Zealand David Malouf Keri Hulme and Canada Michael Ondaatje Examining how Anglophone writers engaged with the literary intellectual and cultural heritage of modernism this volume offers a vital and distinctive intervention in ongoing discussions of modern and contemporary literature

Settler Society in the Australian Colonies Angela Woollacott, 2015 Examines the rising numbers of free settlers from the 1820s to the 1860s their dependence on Aboriginal immigrant and convict under paid laborers and the slow development of representative government

A Historical Companion to Postcolonial Thought in English Prem Poddar, David Johnson, 2005 From the triumphs of nationalism and political and cultural independence to the continuing problems of internal strife and poverty postcolonial nations have grappled with a range of political intellectual and economic issues A Historical Companion to Postcolonial Thought in English is a comprehensive introduction to the major events figures and movements that have shaped the postcolonial history of the Anglophone world With entries from more than fifty leading scholars arranged alphabetically by topic this volume brings together the postcolonial histories of Africa the Middle East South Asia Southeast Asia Australia New Zealand the Pacific the Caribbean and Canada Each entry provides a summary of a historical event or topic and suggestions for further readings The volume also includes substantive essays on historiography and women s histories By outlining the cultural social and political contexts of postcolonialism as well as examining elements of colonial history this companion illuminates complex contemporary debates about globalization AIDS immigration race politics economics culture and language

Lessons of Romanticism Thomas Pfau, Robert F. Gleckner, 1998 Explores how the Romantic period gave birth to a seductive cognitive cultural program that retains far reaching implications for contemporary views on individuality and relationships between the individual and larger groups of identification Established

Imagining Justice Julie McGonegal, 2009-03 Discourses of forgiveness and reconciliation have emerged as powerful scripts for interracial negotiations in states struggling with the legacies of colonialism While such discourses can obscure or even perpetuate existing power relations they can also encourage remembrance reformulate notions of justice and ultimately bring about social transformation

The Politics of Identity in Australia Geoff Stokes, 1997-06-30 Issues of identity are central to many historical and current debates in Australia This superb collection of essays represents a significant rethinking of received ideas on identity and reveals how issues of identity lie at the heart of Australian political thought and form the foundation of Australian society and culture It provides a comprehensive introduction to the political discourse surrounding Australian identity through key themes including identity theory the manipulation of identity for political ends gender and sexuality immigration and national identity citizenship and Aboriginality and literature and film The book rejects many of the assumptions underlying contemporary political debates including the promulgation of a singular national identity in historical fact or as a political goal This is a thought provoking study of identity its links with nationalism and its potentially divisive effects

Resourceful Reading Katherine Bode, Professor Robert Dixon, 2010-01-11 This collection provides the first comprehensive account of eResearch and the new empiricism as they are transforming the field of Australian literary studies in the twenty first century

Cultural Memory and Literature Diane Molloy, 2015-10-20 Cultural memory involves a community s shared memories the selection of which is based on current political and social needs A past that is significant to a national group is re imagined by generating new meanings that replace earlier certainties and fixed symbols or myths This creates literary syncretisms with moments of undecidability The analysis in this book draws on Renate Lachmann s theory of intertextuality to show how novels that blur boundaries without standing in for history are prone to intervene in cultural memory A brief overview of Aboriginal politics between the 1920s and the 1990s in relation to several novels provides historical and political background to the links between and problems associated with cultural memory testimony trauma and Stolen Generations narratives which are discussed in relation to Sally Morgan's My Place and Doris Pilkington's Rabbit Proof Fence. There follows an analysis of novels that respond to the history of contact between Aboriginal and settler Australians including Kate Grenville's historical novels The Secret River, The Lieutenant and Sarah Thornhill as examples of a traditional approach. David Malouf's Remembering Babylon charts how language and naming defined our early national narrative that excluded Aboriginal people. Intertextuality is explored via the relation between Thea Astley's The Multiple Effects of Rainshadow, Chloe Hooper's The Tall Man and the Royal Commission into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody. Kim Scott's Benang from the heart and That Deadman Dance and Alexis Wright's Carpentaria reflect a number of Lachmann's concepts: syncretism, dialogism, polyphony, Menippean satire and the carnivalesque. Suggested is a new way of reading novels that respond to Australia's violent past beyond trauma studies and postcolonial theory to re-imagine a different syncretic past from multiple perspectives.

Unsettling the City Nicholas Blomley, 2004-06-01 Short and accessible this book interweaves a discussion of the geography of property in one global city Vancouver with a more general analysis of property politics and the city.

Remembering Babylon David Malouf, 1994-10-04 Winner of the IMPAC Award and Booker Prize nominee In this rich and compelling novel written in language of astonishing poise and resonance one of Australia's greatest living writers gives an immensely powerful vision of human differences and eternal divisions. In the mid 1840s a thirteen year old British cabin boy Gemmy Fairley is cast ashore in the far north of Australia and taken in by aborigines. Sixteen years later he moves back into the world of Europeans among hopeful yet terrified settlers who are staking out their small patch of home in an alien place. To them Gemmy stands as a different kind of challenge: he is a force that at once fascinates and repels. His own identity in this new world is as unsettling to him as the knowledge he brings to others of the savage the aboriginal. Breathtaking. To read this remarkable book is to remember Babylon well whether you think you've been there or not. The New York Times Book Review

Spiritual Resources in Family Therapy Froma Walsh, 2008-12-04 Exploring the role of spirituality in couple and family relationships this successful text and practitioner guide illustrates ways to tap spiritual resources for coping, healing and resilience. Leading experts in family therapy and pastoral care discuss how faith, beliefs and practices can foster personal and relational well-being; how religious conflicts or a spiritual void can contribute to distress; and what therapists can gain from reflecting on their own spiritual journeys. The volume is rich with insights for working with multi-faith and culturally diverse clients.
