Personal Observation Paper:

Proceedings Mine Inspectors' Institute of America, 1926 William Bartram's Visual Wonders Elizabeth A. Athens, 2024-09-10 Pennsylvania naturalist William Bartram 1739-1823 is best known as the author of a travelogue describing his botanizing journey through the American South in the late eighteenth century. Writing was not however Bartram's only or even preferred method of recording the natural world around him. His deeply unconventional drawings depicting sentient plants and hybrid organic forms lie at the heart of his understanding of nature. With this book Elizabeth Athens considers the strangeness of Bartram's graphic enterprise, exploring the essential role his renderings played in his natural history. For Bartram, the making and interpretation of figures on a surface was a dynamic and collaborative relationship between nature, the observing artist, naturalist, and the audience. This book offers the first in-depth investigation of Bartram's drawing practice as central to his understanding of nature. Through an examination of Bartram's approach to botanical and zoological representation, Athens highlights the struggle between different modes of seeing nature in eighteenth-century Enlightenment science. Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency United States Congress, Senate, Committee on Banking and Currency, 1961 Papers and Proceedings of the Royal Society of Tasmania Royal Society of Tasmania, 1891 Transactions of the Section on Ophthalmology of the American Medical Association at the ... Annual Session, Held at ... American Medical Association. Section on Ophthalmology. Session, 1927 Sociological Theory Bert N. Adams, R. A. Sydnie, 2001-01-30 This book connects theorists and their work to larger themes and ideas. All too often in the opinion of the authors, theory texts focus too much on individual theorists and insufficiently on the relationship between their theories and how these have contributed in turn to the evolution of ideas concerning social life. Treatment of individual theories and theorists is balanced with the development of key themes about social life introduced in Chapter 1, which then reappear in the discussion of individual theorists and their work. A key organizing principle of this text is to trace major schools of thought over the past 150 years as they appear and reappear in different chapters. Section 1 introductions help remind students of the big picture within which any given theory or theorist is only one part. A consistent organization and presentation within chapters helps provide students with a context for learning and a means of much more easily comparing and contrasting theorists and their ideas. Important new voices in a text for social theory. In Chapter 2, Harriet Martineau is introduced as one of sociology's founders. From then on, the views of women theorists and others are represented in far more than token fashion. Examples include W. E. B. DuBois, Marianne Weber, Charlotte Gilman, Rosa Luxemburg, Joseph Schumpeter, V. I. Lenin, Niklas Luhmann, Theda Skocpol, Erik Wright, Elman Service, Arlie Hochschild, Dorothy Smith, Patricia Hill Collins, and Immanuel Wallerstein. A timeline showing when social theorists lived and wrote and connecting their biographies to important social events over 300 years is at the back of the text. The organization of every chapter along similar lines provides a consistency in presentation that encourages comparisons among the theorists The authors do a very good job presenting overlooked theorists and making their relevance to social theorizing doing sociology clear Joan Alway formerly University of Miami The strengths of this text are the breadth of theories covered the integration of gender related topics family work religion the use of substantial quotes from primary texts the consistent inclusion of methodological issues and the goals of the project to provide an expansive and readable theory text I have no doubt that it will find a solid position in the field of popular theory texts for undergraduate course use Kathleen Slobin North Dakota State University
