Ethics is defined as the comprehension of what is right and what is wrong within the moral context and different cultures and communities have a different perception of right and wrong depending on their individual regulations, religious beliefs, as well as cultural practices. Utilitarianism, egoism, deontology, virtue ethics, and care ethics are some of the ethical theories that philosophy has cited in resolving ethical dilemmas. Such theories are designed with intention of preventing ethical violations which may pave way for the exploitation of those who are less powerful within the business world. Quotes from famous philosophers in the world are evidence and implications of the existence of such exploitation as rooted in history. Some of these quotes include 'Charity is no substitute for justice withheld' by St. Augustine and 'The price good men pay for indifference to public affairs is to be ruled by evil men' by Plato. On the other hand, justice entails enforcing fair conducts and distributing these equally to make sure that every person has a chance to lead a better life. St. Augustine asserts that the role of these two important social aspects differs and as such it is impossible
