Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were randomly assigned to a control group (CG) and an exercise group (EG). The EG performed a 12-week training program consisting of 3 sessions per week. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during submaximal and maximal exercise at baseline and after 12 weeks. The results showed that the EG had a significant decrease in HR and HRR at rest and during submaximal and maximal exercise compared to the CG. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary middle-aged men.

 - Turn off the lights at the end of the work day.
 - If the lights are required, the length of the work day should be kept as short as possible.
- The end of the night period is the beginning of the day, so the length of the night period is the same as the length of the day period.
