We Must Begin with the Land Stephen Hunt, 2025-04-29 We live at a time of intractable armed conflicts starved of resolution We inhabit a planet where damaged ecosystems are hungry for restoration We endure chronic inequalities of wealth and power which crave redistribution During the past decade such intertwined factors have precipitated a food crisis in which increasingly millions experience malnutrition As elsewhere the UK is constrained by legacies of structural injustice and failing neoliberal policies Yet We Must Begin with the Land is not another account of global doom It explores an abundance of innovative and traditional alternatives for producing food renewable energies and organic materials through agroecology Using the anti colonial lens of social ecology Stephen E Hunt considers mini real world case studies for diversifying and democratising how we might grow share and eat Gleaning such examples takes us from La Via Campesina the world's largest food sovereignty network to efforts to preserve Indigenous knowledges from radical material sciences using hemp seaweed and fungi to the defiant trees and fruits of revolutionary Rojava from proliferating Kleingarten to micro projects at home such as an inner city growing community where refugees sprout hope and Japanese Shumai cultivation unexpectedly thriving in a Wiltshire hamlet Social ecology is a powerful set of conceptual principles for transforming our relationship to food It offers a critique of existing supply chains that all too often shackle producers and consumers alike in dependency and poverty But it also sparks different conversations about how we might delink from and reconnect into food chains that are more intricate and ultimately more resilient It signals priorities not just to meet social needs and for ecological survival but also for human liberation and pleasure and flourishing sustainability

The Transition Handbook Rob Hopkins, 2008-02-25 Move from feeling anxious about the oil crisis to developing a positive visions and taking traction action to create a more self reliant existence with this ground breaking book We live in an oil dependent world and have become reliant in a very short space of time using vast reserves of oil in the process and without planning for when the supply is not so plentiful Most of us avoid thinking about what happens when the oil runs out or becomes prohibitively expensive but the reality may not be as bad as we think The Transition Handbook shows how the inevitable and profound changes ahead could have a positive effect Written by permaculture expert Rob Hopkins he discusses the possibility of a rebirth of local communities which will generate their own fuel food and housing These will encourage the development of local currencies to keep money in the local area and unleash a local skilling up so that people have more control over their lives The growth in interest in the Transition model continues to be exponential There are now more than 35 formal Transition Initiatives in the UK including towns cities islands villages and peninsulas with more joining as the idea takes off With little proactivity at government level communities are taking matters into their own hands and acting locally If your community has not yet become a Transition Initiative this upbeat guide filled with beautiful black and white photographs offers you the tools to get started The Transition Handbook is the perfect manual to guide communities as they begin this energy descent journey

Regenerating Cities Maria Elena Zingoni de Baro, 2022-01-18 This book sets out the discussion on how cities can contribute solutions to some of the challenges the urbanised world is facing such as the pressure of growing populations mitigation of effects of and adaptation to globally changing environmental climate and public health conditions Presenting a detailed explanation of the causes behind the current state of modern cities the book advocates for a paradigm shift to improve the quality of life of ever increasing urban inhabitants whilst nourishing the natural systems that sustain human and non human life in the planet Recognising the precious role that nature plays in the functioning of cities it delves into the study of biophilic design and regenerative development The book argues that these social ecological design approaches can act as catalysts to develop conditions in urban settings that are beneficial for natural and human systems to thrive and flourish both in ecosystem services and social cultural systems This is particularly relevant for the design of new quality precincts or the regeneration of degraded urban spaces to promote health wellbeing and urban resilience A framework is proposed to guide the process of thinking about designing and building healthier more liveable and resilient urban environments that raise the quality of life in cities The method can be used by researchers practitioners urban designers urban planners architects and landscape architects interested in developing their work within a social ecological perspective It can also be used by local governments and agencies to underpin policy making and by educational institutions to prepare graduates with necessary skills to respond to current and future built environment challenges

The National Agricultural Directory 2009 ,2009 Design for Sustainability Janis Birkeland,2012-05-04 With radical and innovative design solutions everyone could be living in buildings and settlements that are more like gardens than cargo containers and that purify air and water generate energy treat sewage and produce food at lower cost Birkeland introduces systems design thinking that cuts across academic and professional boundaries and the divide between social and physical sciences to move towards a transdisciplinary approach to environmental and social problem solving This sourcebook is useful for teaching as each topic within the field of environmental management and social change has pairs of short readings providing diverse perspectives to compare contrast and debate Design for Sustainability presents examples of integrated systems design based on ecological principles and concepts and drawn from the foremost designers in the fields of industrial design materials housing design urban planning and transport landscape and permaculture and energy and resource management
