Topic: Population Dynamics

Week 10: Lecture

Population and Ecology

What are the factors that influence the growth of a population? How do these factors interact to determine the population's growth rate? (10 marks)

10/10 (100%) (1 mark)

1. The population dynamics of a species is the study of how the population of that species changes over time. This includes factors such as birth rate, death rate, immigration, and emigration. The population dynamics of a species are influenced by both internal and external factors. Internal factors include the species' life history, such as its reproductive strategy and its ability to tolerate environmental changes. External factors include the species' interactions with other species and its environment.

2. The population dynamics of a species is the study of how the population of that species changes over time.
