Osterlind, 2019-01-24 Quantitative thinking is our inclination to view natural and everyday phenomena through a lens of measurable events with forecasts odds predictions and likelihood playing a dominant part The Error of Truth recounts the astonishing and unexpected tale of how quantitative thinking came to be and its rise to primacy in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Additionally it considers how seeing the world through a quantitative lens has shaped our perception of the world we live in and explores the lives of the individuals behind its early establishment This worldview was unlike anything humankind had before and it came about because of a momentous human achievement we had learned how to measure uncertainty Probability as a science was conceptualised As a result of probability theory we now had correlations reliable predictions regressions the bellshaped curve for studying social phenomena and the psychometrics of educational testing Significantly these developments happened during a relatively short period in world history roughly the 130 year period from 1790 to 1920 from about the close of the Napoleonic era through the Enlightenment and the Industrial Revolutions to the end of World War I At which time transportation had advanced rapidly due to the invention of the steam engine and literacy rates had increased exponentially This brief period in time was ready for fresh intellectual activity and it gave a kind of impetus for the probability inventions Quantification is now everywhere in our daily lives such as in the ubiquitous microchip in smartphones cars and appliances in the Bayesian logic of artificial intelligence as well as applications in business engineering medicine economics and elsewhere Probability is the foundation of quantitative thinking The Error of Truth tells its story when why and how it happened October 2019 Monthly Current Affairs with MCQs for Competitive Exams Disha Experts, 2019-09-25 Chemical Control Michael Crowley, 2016-01-26 This thoroughly researched study highlights the international community's failure to regulate contemporary state research development marketing and or deployment of riot control agents and incapacitating chemical agent weapons
