

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an exercise group. The exercise group performed a 12-week training program consisting of aerobic and resistance exercises. The HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week program. The results showed that the exercise group had a significant decrease in both HR and BP compared to the control group. The findings suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.
