Objectives For Fall Prevention:

Casebook of Traumatic Injury Prevention Richard Volpe, 2019-12-30 This casebook profiles exceptional traumatic injury prevention programs from all over the globe. Its detailed description and analysis employ a multi stage process of identifying, evaluating and casing effective prevention practices. The case studies reflect how legislative and regulatory information impact prevention efforts and provide insight into how national centers for injury prevention and control inform prevention practices on countrywide levels. The authors work with outcome based research criteria to select and develop their comprehensive and contextually aware profiles of the programs. All included case studies follow the BRIO approach: Background, Resources, Implementation and Outcome, a model designed to provide a consistent way of describing programs that have been evaluated and found to be exceptional practices. The scope of the Casebook ranges across: The challenge of traumatic injury prevention; Sports and recreation related traumatic injury prevention; Fall related traumatic injury prevention; Road traffic related traumatic injury prevention; Traumatic injury prevention within complex systems. In its recognition of traumatic injury prevention across the lifespan as a critical and complex public health challenge, the Casebook of Traumatic Injury Prevention promises to be an influential and authoritative resource for professionals and students in public health, safety, injury prevention, medicine, psychology, sociology, nursing and engineering. Government agencies and institutions such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, CDC, public health departments and safety associations also would find the Casebook relevant to their work.

Evidence-based Falls Prevention Carole Eldridge, 2004 Evidence Based Falls Prevention is a user friendly resource that provides falls risk factor assessment and prevention program information, ideas and tools.

Engineering Metrology for Pedestrian Falls Prevention and Protection In-Ju Kim, 2022-03-25 This book explains how to improve the validity, reliability and repeatability of slip resistance assessments amongst a range of shoes, floors and environments from an engineering metrology viewpoint, covering theoretical and experimental aspects of slip resistance mechanics and mechanisms. Pedestrian falls resulting from slips or falls are one of the foremost causes of fatal and non fatal injuries that limit people's functionality. There have been prolonged efforts globally to identify and understand their main causes and reduce their frequency and severity. This book deals with large volumes of information on tribological characteristics such as friction and wear behaviours of the shoes and floors and their interactive impacts on slip resistance performances. Readers are introduced to theoretical concepts and models and collected evidence on slip resistance properties amongst a range of shoe and floor types and materials under various ambulatory settings. These approaches can be used to develop secure design strategies against fall incidents and provide a great step forward to build safer shoes, floors and walking working environments for industries and communities around the world. The book includes many case studies.
