Canaries Reflect on the Mine Jeanne Cameron, 2012-12-01 In Canaries Reflect on the Mine Dropouts Stories of Schooling Jeanne Cameron invites the reader to see schooling and early school leaving through the eyes of high school dropouts themselves The transcendent desires revealed by this research to be known and valued to learn with purpose and autonomy are spoken with poignant clarity by the young people who story these pages This study offers a compelling and timely critique of the dominant neoliberal discourse on schooling and early school leaving It challenges conventional wisdom about dropouts and shows how the experiences and needs of those who leave school early and those who persist to graduation are more similar than different Collectively these young people s stories evoke a canary in the mine metaphor one where the canaries exit and the miners remain They implore us to see the dropout crisis as a symptom of the alienating and dehumanizing school practices advanced by No Child Left Behind and Race to the Top More importantly they offer a vision for schooling that lovingly embraces and extends all students experiences enriches their biographies and celebrates and supports each of their talents and purposes with equal passion Pre service and in service teachers educational researchers and policy makers administrators and advocates for equitable and democratic schooling have much to learn from this book Qualitative researchers will find a powerful model for working collaboratively with youth to represent their experiences and to craft solutions to the challenges they face Students of sociology will discover a compelling illustration of C Wright Mills sociological imagination and his charge to take it big by drawing connections between individual biographies and the social and historical structures that frame lived experience For professional social scientists it embodies Mills challenge to embrace the moral sensibilities required to understand and improve the human condition The Cost of Racial Equality Major G.

Coleman,2025-10-14 Knowing the cost of products is important If you don t know how much your item costs whatever it may be you are likely to be overcharged or under protected Racial equality is very much like any product Generally you get what you pay for assuming you are buying well made products from reputable and professional sources The more you pay the more you get the less you pay the less you get But everyone knows there are often wild exceptions to the general rule of getting what you pay for Racial equality is no exception Some low cost racial equality programs provide tremendous bang for the buck K 12 school integration affirmative action in higher education funding for anti discrimination enforcement and political equality in voting are just a few examples However by refusing to calculate the costs involved and choosing to pay little or nothing for racial equality the nation is defaulting to the highest cost options This is like trying to save money on transportation by not changing the oil in your car Racial equality cost decisions are particularly problematic as the nation moves to being majority minority by mid century Not knowing the costs for racial equality threatens American democracy

Recent Advancements in Education Finance and Policy Thomas Downes,Kieran M. Killeen,2022-10-01 The past decade has seen a steady flow of important and innovative papers documenting the short and long term effects of finance reforms and the heterogeneity of the effects of reforms exemplified by papers like Jackson Johnson Persico 2016 Lafortune Rothstein Schanzenbach 2018 Hyman 2017 and Candelaria and Shores 2019 Those papers have reinvigorated research on the effects of finance reforms while raising important questions about how to best design a finance system and generate necessary revenues The papers mentioned above along with other papers too numerous to mention have taken advantage of better data and better methods to address long standing questions and generate provocative new answers Since the landscape has changed quickly policy makers and prospective researchers require a summary of the current state of the research on the effects of school finance reforms Answers are also needed to such questions as To what extent are lessons from the Great Recession applicable to the Covid 19 induced crisis For example how will states allocate cuts in grants and will those cuts undo state progress in equalizing educational access Are there strategies for allocating resources that best preserve student learning How do financing systems need to be modified to accommodate greater use of online education How should school finance systems be designed to provide equal access or at a minimum adequate access to students with special needs Why is there significant heterogeneity in the results of different finance reforms What have been the effects of recent state efforts to reduce the role of the property tax in financing K 12 education How should finance systems be designed to more effectively close persistent achievement gaps How if at all should states integrate the financing of preschool education with the financing of elementary and secondary education To help prepare the next generation of researchers and policy makers in the realm of school finance this volume includes papers that summarize the current state of research on the questions above as well as other pressing questions in education finance and policy The book aims to bridge a space between comprehensive textbooks and journal articles in the field of education finance and policy There are two main target audiences The book is meant to serve professionals like school district administrators and education policy practitioners that desire a contemporary update to their previous study of education finance and policy issues These audiences often have limited access to peer reviewed journals and knowledge of pertinent government and related policy reports in the field The book is also meant to serve students and faculty from programs in public administration public policy community development and applied economics education administration educational leadership and policy studies that are studying content related to education policy the economics of education state and local public finance and taxation Some upper level undergraduate students may also benefit from this resource Hearing on Education at a Crossroads United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and the Workforce. Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations,1997 Research in Education ,1973

The Death and Life of the Great American School System Diane Ravitch,2010-03-02 Discusses how school choice misapplied standards of accountability the No Child Left Behind mandate and the use of a corporate model have all led to a decline in public education and presents arguments for a return to strong neighborhood schools and quality teaching
