The Educational Times, and Journal of the College of Preceptors, 1895 Educational Times, 1880 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1891 The Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1891 Official organ of the book trade of the United Kingdom The Bookseller, 1906 Official organ of the book trade of the United Kingdom The United States Catalog Mary Burnham, Carol Hurd, 1928 Education Outlook, 1913 Bookseller, 1903 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series The Athenaeum, 1861 Australian national bibliography, 1961 Books and Pamphlets, Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1949 The United States Catalog, 1928 Emerging Curriculum Andrew J.C. Begg, 2008-01-01 An important contribution that Emerging curriculum makes is a reconceptualizing of the curriculum development process This moves development thinking from the traditional research development dissemination model to one that acknowledges the interrelatedness of many influences on curriculum the multi layered nature of curriculum and the complexity of the educational system in which curriculum exists Indeed the educational system is envisaged as a complex living system The study is autobiographical it is based on a lifetime spent in education during which the author had a particular interest in curriculum and the associated development processes and how one's ideas about these change over time Emerging curriculum has been successfully submitted as a PhD thesis but was written as a book for a wider audience than the traditional thesis one It shows by example how reflection on one's work throughout one's career can be considered as research and can contribute to knowledge in a similar way to that of more traditional doctoral research projects It is hoped that teachers reading this will relate to the author's experiences in schools and will see themselves significant contributors to curriculum that curriculum developers will be provoked into considering alternative ways of working and that academics might move curriculum theorising closer to the reality of schools El-Hi Textbooks in Print, 1984 The Cumulative Book Index, 1922 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1949 Includes Part 1A Books and Part 1B Pamphlets Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Current literature of the month, 1924 Elementary Synthetic Geometry of the Point, Line and Circle in the Plane Nathan Fellowes Dupuis, 1889 Elementary Synthetic Geometry of the Point Line and Circle in the Plane by Nathan Fellowes Dupuis first published in 1889 is a rare manuscript the original residing in one of the great libraries of the world This book is a reproduction of that original which has been scanned and cleaned by state of the art publishing tools for better readability and enhanced appreciation Restoration Editors mission is to bring long out of print manuscripts back to life Some smudges annotations or unclear text may still exist due to permanent damage to the original work We believe the literary significance of the text justifies offering this reproduction allowing a new generation to appreciate it The Journal of Education, 1905 Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock, 2023-03-08 The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century. It attracted the attention of local and international politicians, teachers and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels, kindergarten to college graduate, in many nations. After garnering much initial support, it began to attract criticism. But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17, some of the effects became entrenched. This volume, edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium, provides an outstanding overview of the New Math/modern mathematics movement. Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations. The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America. The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki. In the United States, there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U.S. mathematics curricula and teaching, especially in secondary schools and colleges. This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik, the first satellite. Undoubtedly, this is a landmark publication in education. The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon, one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective. The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel, a historian, draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development, especially in science education, including recent globalization trends.
