Varghese, 2009-08-01 First published 1996 This edition with new introduction published July 2009 The Australian National University has always been a university with a difference Conceived in the mid 1940s to serve Australia's post war needs for advanced research and postgraduate training it quickly embraced the ideals and traditions of Oxford and Cambridge Undergraduate teaching was introduced in 1960 following amalgamation with Canberra University College The University continued to adapt to changes in Australian society while retaining much of its unique structure and objectives Stephen Foster and Margaret Varghese trace the ANU's history from its wartime origins to its fiftieth anniversary in 1996 featuring many of the prominent Australians who contributed to its making Nugget Coombs Howard Florey Mark Oliphant W K Hancock Douglas Copland John Crawford Peter Karmel and others who stood out in particular fields such as J C Eccles Arthur Birch Manning Clark Russell Mathews Ernest Titterton Beryl Rawson John Mulvaney John Passmore and Frank Fenner The Making of The Australian National University explores many themes in higher education during the last half century including academic freedom relations between universities and politicians recruitment practices the two cultures of science and the humanities collegial versus managerial structures equality of opportunity student politics academics and architecture and universities in the marketplace This is an affectionate and critical account of a remarkable Australian institution and more broadly a fascinating study of how institutions work

American Journal of Education, 1856 The X Club Ruth Barton, 2018-11-21 In 1864 amid headline grabbing heresy trials members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science were asked to sign a declaration affirming that science and scripture were in agreement Many criticized the new test of orthodoxy nine decided that collaborative action was required The X Club tells their story These six ambitious professionals and three wealthy amateurs J D Hooker T H Huxley John Tyndall John Lubbock William Spottiswoode Edward Frankland George Busk T A Hirst and Herbert Spencer wanted to guide the development of science and public opinion on issues where science impinged on daily life religious belief and politics They formed a private dining club which they named the X Club to discuss and further their plans As Ruth Barton shows they had a clear objective they wanted to promote scientific habits of mind which they sought to do through lectures journalism and science education They devoted enormous effort to the expansion of science education with real but mixed success For twenty years the X Club was the most powerful network in Victorian science the men succeeded each other in the presidency of the Royal Society for a dozen years Barton's group biography traces the roots of their success and the lasting effects of their championing of science against those who attempted to limit or control it along the way shedding light
