Story of Black John Harvey, 2013-07-15 As a color black comes in no other shades it is a single hue with no variation one half of a dichotomy But what it symbolizes envelops the entire spectrum of meaning good and bad The Story of Black travels back to the biblical and classical eras to explore the ambiguous relationship the world's cultures have had with this sometimes accursed color examining how black has been used as a tool and a metaphor in a plethora of startling ways John Harvey delves into the color's problematic association with race observing how white Europeans exploited the negative associations people had with the color to enslave millions of black Africans He then looks at the many figurative meanings of black for instance the Greek word melancholia or black bile which defines our dark moods and the ancient Egyptians use of black as the color of death which led to it becoming the standard hue for funereal garb and the clothing of priests churches and cults Considering the innate austerity and gravity of black Harvey reveals how it also became the color of choice for the robes of merchants lawyers and monarchs before gaining popularity with eighteenth and nineteenth century dandies and with Goths and other subcultures today Finally he looks at how artists and designers have applied the color to their work from the earliest cave paintings to Caravaggio Rembrandt and Rothko Asking how a single color can at once embody death evil and glamour The Story of Black unearths the secret behind black's continuing power to compel and divide us Webs of Words John Considine, 2010-02-19 Webs of Words New Studies in Historical Lexicology brings together ten papers on aspects of the history of words and vocabulary which address aspects of Chinese Czech Dutch English including Caribbean varieties German Italian Mori Persian Portuguese Russian and other languages In the first four essays focussing on pre 1800 material Karel Kuera and Martin Stluka's opening essay discusses the plotting of the relative historical frequency of common words drawing on their work with the diachronic portion of the Czech National Corpus Ian Lancashire asks why Tudor England had no monolingual English dictionary Chiara Benati discusses the interplay between Low German High German and Latin in an early modern surgical text and Mateusz Urban sorts out the competing etymologies of English balcony Italian balcone and similar forms in Persian and Russian The next six turn to more recent material Jane Samson analyzes the nineteenth century debate as to whether the Mori language was too primitive to have a word for blue Vivien Wazsink discusses the Dutch prefixes bio and eco and their documentation in a new dictionary Tommaso Pellin examines a series of attempts to provide a grammatical terminology in Chinese Lise Winer surveys the naming of fauna in the English Creole of Trinidad and Tobago Mirosława Podhajecka writes on the treatment of Russian loanwords in the current revision of the Oxford English Dictionary with special attention to Google Books as a research tool and Isabel Casanova asks whether Portuguese dictionaries should register English words The contributions to this volume share an interest in empirical evidence rather than in lexicological study at a highly theoretical level and in the wide contextualization of the words which constitute this evidence in the social and cultural lives of their users
