Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) Organising Local Economic Development The Role of Development Agencies and Companies Clark Greg,Huxley Joe,Mountford Debra,2010-04-06 This book identifies how development agencies and companies work what they do and how they can collaborate and what constitutes success and value added in their efforts to achieve local economic development New Century Local Government Graham Sansom,Peter McKinlay,2013-09-30 Democratic decentralisation through conventional institutions of local government is facing increasing challenges whether from financial pressures questions of representativeness difficult central local relations and from a perhaps growing belief that local government has failed to realise its potential and there may be better ways of achieving societal goals It is clear there is need to contemplate quite radical change to ensure local government becomes or remains fit for purpose This collection of papers illustrates the way in which the role of local government is evolving in different parts of the Commonwealth and provides practical examples of new local government at work It showcases emerging practice and highlights success stories from new ways of working and challenges confronting local government in both developed and developing countries New Century Local Government makes a very valuable contribution to helping understand the changing role of local government and will ensure that practitioners are up to date with the most innovative initiatives in local government planning and administration OECD Territorial Reviews: The Metropolitan Region of Rotterdam-The Hague, Netherlands OECD,2016-02-01 This report examines the Netherlands new Metropolitan Region of Rotterdam The Hague MRDH drawing on lessons from governance reforms in other OECD countries and identifying how the MRDH experience could benefit policy makers beyond Dutch borders Leading the Inclusive City Robin Hambleton,2014-11-24 Cities are often seen as helpless victims in a global flow of events and many view growing inequality in cities as inevitable This engaging book rejects this gloomy prognosis and argues that imaginative place based leadership can enable citizens to shape the urban future in accordance with progressive values advancing social justice promoting care for the environment and bolstering community empowerment This international and comparative book written by an experienced author shows how inspirational civic leaders are making a major difference in cities across the world The analysis provides practical lessons for local leaders and a significant contribution to thinking on public service innovation for anyone who wants to change urban society for the better Australia's Metropolitan Imperative Richard

Tomlinson, Marcus Spiller, 2018-07-01 Since the early 1990s there has been a global trend towards governmental devolution. However in Australia alongside deregulation public private partnerships and privatisation there has been increasing centralisation rather than decentralisation of urban governance. Australian state governments are responsible for the planning management and much of the funding of the cities but the Commonwealth government has on occasion asserted much the same role. Disjointed policy and funding priorities between levels of government have compromised metropolitan economies, fairness and the environment. Australia's Metropolitan Imperative: An Agenda for Governance Reform makes the case that metropolitan governments would promote the economic competitiveness of Australia's cities and enable more effective and democratic planning and management. The contributors explore the global metropolitan renaissance, document the history of metropolitan debate in Australia and demonstrate metropolitan governance failures. They then discuss the merits of establishing metropolitan governments including economic, fiscal, transport, land use, housing and environmental benefits. The book will be a useful resource for those engaged in strategic transport and land use planning and a core reference for students and academics of urban governance and government. Developing Governance and Governing

Development Diane Smith, Alice Wighton, Stephen Cornell, Adam Vai Delaney, 2021-08-18 Globally far too many discussions about Indigenous governance and development are dominated by accounts of disadvantage, deficit and failure. This book paints a different international picture, testifying to Indigenous peoples as agents of governance innovation and successful developers in their own right, telling stories in their words from their own experiences and countries. From Indigenous voices we hear alternative concepts and measures of effectiveness, legitimacy, success and sustainability. Indigenous stories and voices are captured as case study chapters written in lively, clear language about what is happening that is promising and productive in Indigenous self-determined governance for self-determined development in Canada, Australia, Aotearoa New Zealand and the USA, all English colonial settler countries. We, The People(s) Claire Charters, Dean Robert

Knight, 2013-01-01 The analyses in this book focus on the participation of the people within New Zealand's system of government. The chapters provide a thorough examination of the government's size, accessibility, structure, electoral system and active committees in order to explain trends in the participation of sub-state actors such as Indigenous peoples and other minority groups. A Modern Guide to Local and Regional Politics Copus, Colin, Kerley, Richard, Jones,

Alistair, 2022-02-04 Utilising international material to explore the roles, functions, tasks, responsibilities, powers and actions of intra-state politicians and the institutions to which they are elected, this insightful book examines how local and regional authorities are pivotal in the democratic and governing arrangements of different countries. Indigenous Politics Mikkel

Berg-Nordlie, Jo Saglie, Ann Sullivan, 2016-08-19 Over the last fifty years Indigenous politics has become an increasingly important field of study Recognition of self determination rights are being demanded by indigenous peoples around the world Indigenous struggles for political representation are shaped by historical and social circumstances particular to their nations but there are nevertheless many shared experiences What are some of the commonalities similarities and differences to indigenous representation participation and mobilisation This anthology offers a comparative perspective on institutional arrangements that provide for varying degrees of indigenous representation including forms of self organisation as well as government created representation structures A range of comparative and country specific studies provides a wealth of information on institutional arrangements and processes that mobilise indigenous peoples and the ways in which they negotiate alliances and handle conflict
