LANGUAGE, AUTONOMY, AND THE CONSTITUTION: RE-EXAMINING THE THREE-LANGUAGE FORMULA IN A FEDERAL INDIA

BY NIKSHITHA R
RAKSHITHA R

Abstract:

This paper critically examines the Three-Language Formula (TLF) in India, a policy introduced in the 1968 National Education Policy and reiterated in the 2020 revision, aimed at promoting multilingualism, national integration, and linguistic diversity among school students. While the formula envisions the study of two native Indian languages alongside English, its implementation has sparked widespread resistance, especially in non-Hindi-speaking states such as Tamil Nadu and Karnataka. Through a historical lens, the paper explores Tamil Nadu's long-standing opposition to the imposition of Hindi and Karnataka's evolving stance amid regional language activism. The study delves into the constitutional dimensions of the TLF, highlighting tensions with Articles 343, 345, 347, 282, and 29, and its perceived conflict with the spirit of the Eighth Schedule. The conditional allocation of educational funds under central schemes like Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan further illustrates the friction between centralized education reforms and states' rights to linguistic and educational autonomy. The paper underscores the need for a more flexible, context-sensitive approach to language policy that respects India's federal structure and rich linguistic heritage while promoting national cohesion without coercion.

Introduction:

The Three-Language Formula, introduced in the National Education Policy (NEP) of 1968 and reaffirmed in NEP 2020, aims to promote multilingualism and national integration by encouraging students to learn three languages: their mother tongue or regional language, Hindi or another Indian language, and English. While this policy seeks to foster linguistic diversity, its implementation has raised concerns, particularly in non-Hindi-speaking states like Tamil Nadu and Karnataka. These states perceive the policy as a potential imposition of Hindi, threatening their linguistic autonomy and cultural identity. The Official Languages Act

The relationship between music and language Lutz Jäncke, Traditionally music and language have been treated as different psychological faculties This duality is reflected in older theories about the lateralization of speech and music in that speech functions were thought to be localized on the left and music functions on the right hemisphere But with the advent of modern brain imaging techniques and the improvement of neurophysiological measures to investigate brain functions an entirely new view on the neural and psychological underpinnings of music and speech has evolved The main point of convergence in the findings of these new studies is that music and speech functions have many aspects in common and that several neural modules are similarly involved in speech and music There is also emerging evidence that speech functions can benefit from music functions and vice versa This new research field has accumulated a lot of new information and it is therefore timely to bring together the work of those researchers who have been most visible productive and inspiring in this field and to ask them to present their new work or provide a summary of their laboratory s work Mining Scientific Papers: NLP-enhanced Bibliometrics Iana Atanassova,Marc Bertin,Philipp Mayr,2019-10-09 Practicing Theory in Second Language Writing Tony Silva,Paul Kei Matsuda,2010-01-15 Theory has been used widely in the field of second language writing Second language writing specialists teachers researchers and administrators have yet to have an open and sustained conversation about what theory is how it works and more important how to practice theory Practicing Theory in Second Language Writing features fourteen essays by distinguished scholars in second language writing who explore various aspects of theoretical work that goes on in the field Resources in Education ,1998-04 U.S.I.S.
