TV Snapshots Lynn Spigel, 2022-04-08 In TV Snapshots Lynn Spigel explores snapshots of people posing in front of their television sets in the 1950s through the early 1970s Like today's selfies TV snapshots were a popular photographic practice through which people visualized their lives in an increasingly mediated culture Drawing on her collection of over 5 000 TV snapshots Spigel shows that people did not just watch TV women used the TV set as a backdrop for fashion and glamour poses people dressed in drag in front of the screen and in pinup poses people even turned the TV setting into a space for erotic display While the television industry promoted on screen images of white nuclear families in suburban homes the snapshots depict a broad range of people across racial ethnic and class backgrounds that do not always conform to the reigning middle class nuclear family ideal Showing how the television set became a central presence in the home that exceeded its mass entertainment function Spigel highlights how TV snapshots complicate understandings of the significance of television in everyday life
