The Erotic Bird Maurice Natanson, 2021-09-14 How does literature illuminate the way we live Maurice Natanson a prominent champion of phenomenology draws upon this method's unique power to show how fiction can highlight aspects of experience that are normally left unexamined By exploring the structure of the everyday world Natanson reveals the uncanny that lies at the core of the ordinary Phenomenology which involves the questioning of that which we usually take for granted is for Natanson the essence of philosophy Drawing upon his philosophical predecessors Edmund Husserl Alfred Schutz and Jean Paul Sartre Natanson paves his own way with stories and examples that themselves bear witness to how phenomenology occurs in literature In considering such works as Samuel Beckett s Waiting for Godot Thomas Mann s The Magic Mountain and Franz Kafka s The Metamorphosis Natanson shows how literature opens us to the domain of possibility and how metaphor offers philosophical power when we think about freedom and change This book written by one of the twentieth century s leading phenomenologists will interest students in philosophy and in literature They will value the work particularly for its clarification of concepts and terms that frequently emerge in the contemporary intellectual climate

Culturally Proficient Coaching Delores B. Lindsey, Richard S. Martinez, Randall B. Lindsey, Keith T. Myatt, 2019-11-28 Why a new edition of Culturally Proficient Coaching Why now especially Because several polarizing years later there s even greater urgency for us all to critically examine our attitudes beliefs and practices when working with students who look or sound different No matter how broadly you define coach no matter which coaching model you follow this is the resource to help you get started With the first edition the authors big goal was to shift our thinking in service of standards based teaching and leading and equitable interactions that support all students achieving at highest levels Now with this second edition the authors add a third goal to encourage a more holistic mindset and expanded contextual uses New features include Enhanced research on the effectiveness of coaching in educational settings New data on response to implicit bias and microaggressions subtle and unintentional yet destructive forms of discrimination that continue to marginalize Refinement and updating of the Tools of Cultural Proficiency which enable you to provide equitable life affirming experiences to all cultural groups Expanded models of Culturally Proficient Coaching Conversations A special section on crafting Breakthrough Questions to shift entrenched mindsets and barriers to Cultural Proficiency By design Culturally Proficient Coaching is an intentional inside out

approach that mediates a person's thinking toward values, beliefs, and behaviors that enable effective cross-cultural interactions and equitable learning environments. Here's your opportunity to serve as that expert and trusted mediator, boosting educators' cultural confidence and consciousness while honing their coaching skills. We owe it to ourselves and to our children to productively embrace and engage diversity with all of its tensions for the sustainability of humanity. These authors have given us the invitation, the road map, and the call to action; the embarkment is up to each one of us. Carolyn M. McKanders, Director Emerita, Center for Adaptive Schools and Thinking Collaborative. Building Organizational Memories: Will You Know What You Knew? Girard, John P., 2009-03-31. Provides relevant theoretical frameworks, latest empirical research findings, and practitioners' best practices in the area of organizational memory. The Plurality of Power Sarah Cowie, 2011-02-15. How do people experience power within capitalist societies? Research presented here explicitly addresses the notion of pluralistic power, which encompasses both productive and oppressive forms of power, and acknowledges that nuanced and multifaceted power relations can exist in combination with binary dynamics such as domination and resistance. This volume addresses growing interests in linking past and present power relationships engendered by capitalism and in conducting historical archaeology as anthropology. The Plurality of Power: Industrial Capitalism and the Nineteenth Century Company Town of Fayette, Michigan explores the subtle distribution of power within American industrial capitalism through a case study of a company town. Issues surrounding power and agency are explored in regard to three heuristic categories of power. In the first category, the company imposed a system of structural class-based power that is most visible in hierarchical differences in pay and housing, as well as consumer behavior. A second category addresses disciplinary activities surrounding health and the human body as observed in the built environment: medical artifacts, disposal patterns of industrial waste, incidence of intestinal parasites, and unequal access to healthcare. The third ensemble of power relations is heterarchical and entwined with non-economic capital: social, symbolic, and cultural. Individuals and groups drew upon different forms of capital to bolster social status and express identity both within and apart from the corporate hierarchy. The goal in combining these diverse ideas is to explore the plurality of power relationships in past industrial contexts and to assert their relevance in the anthropology of capitalism. Doing Practitioner Research Differently Marion Dadds, Susan Hart, 2002-11-01. Doing Practitioner Research Differently encourages those embarking on practitioner research to consider the validity of innovative methods and styles of reporting. The book looks at three methods of enquiry and reporting: visualisation, conversation, and fictional writing. Using practitioners' own accounts and research reports as case studies, this book explores the reasons why some practitioners reject the traditional research methods. It looks at the challenges faced by these practitioners and the conditions in higher education that encourage or inhibit innovative practitioner research. The case studies used illustrate that there are modes of enquiry and reporting that can foster the development of professional thinking and practice. Current Topics in Children's Learning and Cognition Heidi Kloos, Bradley Morris, Joseph Amaral, 2012-11-14. As a whole, the essays in this book address theoretical and empirical issues related to children s learning and cognition The first essay titled Learning in Cognitive Niches treats the process of sense making on a theoretical level discussing the complexity of factors that give rise to children s learning It is followed by an essay titled Using the Dynamics of a Person Context System to Describe Children s Understanding of Air Pressure that applies ideas from complexity science and dynamics systems theory to children s learning about science The next four essays summarize and synthesize already published findings in an effort to go beyond individual viewpoints and present a more nuanced picture of children s sense making In particular two of these summaries Preschoolers Learning Science Myth or Reality and The Emergence of Scientific Reasoning focus on children s ability to make sense of their physical environment The essay Cognition and the Child Witness Understanding the Impact of Cognitive Development in Forensic Contexts seeks to shed light on children s sense making relevant to forensic issues And the essay Beyond the Black and White of Autism How Cognitive Performance Varies with Context ventures in the area of autism a disorder that demonstrates atypical processes of combining pieces of information The final two essays provide original data to add to the discussion of what factors affect cognitive functioning In particular the essay Cognitive Fitness in Young Adult Video Game Players seeks to re assess the often assumed relation between video gaming and various aspects of thinking memory intelligence and visual spatial abilities And the essay Impact of Moving Away from Home on Undergraduate Metacognitive Development explicitly connects life circumstances to the ability to monitor and control one s thinking Together the collection of essays are a further step towards understanding the process of sense making as children and young adults interact with their environment

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
