

Sample Comparison/Contrast Essay: Large Leap

The leap from high school to college is a large one. Many students enter post-secondary education expecting the experience to be the same as the one they had while at secondary school. These students are wrong to make this assumption, and they very quickly realize just how different college is. College costs more, presents more academic challenges, and offers a more social environment than high school.

First, in terms of cost, college is more expensive than high school because of tuition, living expenses, and books. Anyone who wishes to attend college must pay fees, whereas it is free to attend high school. College tuition can start at roughly $1,500 per term and can wind up costing as much as $2,000. The government funds high schools, so high school students do not have to pay for their education. In addition to tuition, college students must also worry about the residence or rental costs for living close to the college's campus. In Toronto, rental costs for a basement apartment can range from $400 to $600 per month (not including utilities), and residence fees at most colleges work out to roughly $2,000 per term. In contrast, high school students have no living expenses because the majority of high school students live at home with their parents for free. College is also more expensive than high school when it comes to the cost of learning materials, such as textbooks. In college, students must buy textbooks for each course they take. These books are not cheap, and they often wind up costing students several hundreds of dollars once students have purchased the books for all their classes. High school students never have to worry about buying their textbooks because high schools always keep a set of books, which students use and then return at the end of the year. Not only do college students have to pay more money than high school students for their education, the college students also have much more work to do once their bills have been paid.

Second, the workload in college is more challenging than the workload in high school. College students are faced with the task of having to complete an average of three to five assignments per week, whereas high school students average only one to three assignments per week. There are more assignments in college, and they are also more challenging and can take up to eight hours to complete.

Simple Approaches to Writing Short Essays Peter Jia, 2006 This book is aimed at intermediate level ESL students. It is a compilation of the author's teaching notes; therefore, it can serve as a textbook for ESL teachers. The book is purposely written and organized in very simple, clear, and precise words and structures so that it can also serve as a self-help studying material. Each chapter of the book deals with one suggested approach in essay writing so that students can focus on their learning. It is handy for ESL students to keep it as a reference book. GENRE-BASED WRITING: THEORY AND PRACTICE

Lutfi Ashar Mauludin, Celya Intan Kharisma Putri, 2025-05-19 Understanding and mastering genre-based writing is essential because each genre serves a unique purpose and audience. Learning to navigate these different genres equips students with the tools they need to communicate effectively across various fields and contexts, whether academic, professional, or personal. Hence, learning to write in different genres is crucial as each genre has its own conventions and expectations that help convey meaning effectively. This book is designed to support students enrolled in the Genre-Based Writing Theory and Practice course and any readers who are navigating similar difficulties in writing. Developing Creative Thinking to Improve Academic Writing Azza Abugharsa PhD, 2018-05-08 Developing Creative Thinking to Improve Academic Writing Part Two Advanced Level textbook helps enhancing lateral thinking within the given contextual frame in order to promote students' intellectual challenge to produce a comprehensive understanding about the topic. This facilitates flexible thinking required to write academic assignments in which arguments are presented for thorough analysis. Since rigid judgments can lead to fossilized views, it is recommended to emphasize the concept that all opinions are correct from the points of view of their holders. In this regard, this book helps college students practice improving their triangular thinking skills which emphasize evaluation of all the aspects of the topic in an equal pattern. Furthermore, this book is useful for ESL college students as well as native speakers of English as it reinforces transformational learning principles which highlight education by inspiration rather than information. Such a strategy can motivate the students to become more creative, more practical, and more resourceful and enable them to transform their learning-related thinking abilities and attitudes in order to come to a better understanding of themselves and the world.

backdrop of Elias Page's seminal 1966 paper titled The Imminence of Grading Essays by Computer. Part 1 establishes what automated essay scoring is about, why it exists, where the technology stands, and what are some of the main issues. In Part 2, the book presents guided exercises to illustrate how one would go about building and evaluating a simple automated scoring system, while Part 3 offers readers a survey of the literature on different types of scoring models, the aspects of essay quality studied in prior research, and the implementation and evaluation of a scoring engine. Part 4 offers a broader view of the field, inclusive of some neighboring areas, and Part 5 closes with summary and discussion. This book grew out of a week-long course on automated evaluation of language production at the North American Summer School for Logic, Language, and Information (NASSLLI), attended by advanced undergraduates and early stage graduate students from a variety of disciplines. Teachers of natural language processing in particular will find that the book offers a useful foundation for a supplemental module on automated scoring. Professionals and students in linguistics, applied linguistics, educational technology, and other related disciplines will also find the material here useful.

Developing Multilingual Writing Hiroe Kobayashi, Carol Rinnert, 2023-02-14

With millions of people becoming multilingual writers in the globalized digital world, this book helps to empower writers to connect with their readers and project their identities effectively across languages, social contexts, and genres. In a series of closely related studies that build on each other, we look comprehensively at how writers develop their ability to construct meaning for different audiences in multiple languages. This book, which draws on various approaches including a social view of writing, multicompetence, adaptive transfer, complex systems theory, motivation, and translanguaging, contributes to ongoing efforts to integrate differing approaches to multilingual writing research. This book focusses on how writer agency, control over text construction, audience awareness, ability to meet expectations of prospective readers, and writer identity, projection of image of the writer in the text, progress as multilingual writers gain more experience across languages. The within-writer cross-sectional text analysis in Chapters 2-5 examines 185 essays written in Japanese and English by eight groups of writers from novice to advanced. N 103 is supplemented by insights from these writers' reflections. We explore how they employ three kinds of text features: discourse types, metadiscourse, and self-representation, which relate to their developing agency, audience, and writer identity in their text construction, and propose a new model for writer voice construction based on those features. The four case studies in Chapters 6-9 focus on five university students and six professionals to examine closely how individual writers' agency, audience, and identity are interrelated in their text construction in two or three languages and diverse genres, including academic and creative writing. The combined studies provide new insights into multilingual writing development by revealing the close interrelationship among these three principal aspects of writing across languages. They also demonstrate the writers' multi-directional use of dynamic transfer, reuse, and reshaping for L1, L2, and L3 text construction, and the use of mixed languages (L1, L2, or L1, L3) for translanguaging in composing processes, in addition to the creative power of multilingual writers. One significant contribution of this book is to provide models of innovative ways to analyze text and new directions for writing research that go beyond complexity accuracy and fluency Categories and detailed examples of text features used for writer voice construction e g specific characteristics of Personal Emergent and Mature Voice are helpful for writing teachers and for developing writers to improve ways of conveying their own intended writer identity to the reader The studies break new ground by extending our analysis of L2 writing to the same writers L1 and L3 writing and multiple genres
