Death in American Texts and Performances Mark Pizzato, 2016-05-13 How do twentieth and twenty first century artists bring forth the powerful reality of death when it exists in memory and lived experience as something that happens only to others Death in American Texts and Performances takes up this question to explore the modern and postmodern aesthetics of death Working between and across genres the contributors examine literary texts and performance media including Robert Lowell s For the Union Dead Luis Valdez Dark Root of a Scream Amiri Baraka s Dutchman Thornton Wilder s Our Town John Edgar Wideman s The Cattle Killing Toni Morrison s Sula and Song of Solomon Don DeLillo s White Noise and Falling Man and HBO s Six Feet Under As the contributors struggle to convey the artist s crisis of representation they often locate the dilemma in the gap between artifice and nature where loss is performed and where re membering is sometimes literally reenacted through the bodily gesture While artists confront the impossibility of total recovery or transformation so must the contributors explore the gulf between real corpses and their literary or performative reconstructions Ultimately the volume shows both artist and critic grappling with the dilemma of showing how the aesthetics of death as absence is made meaningful in and by language

Complex TV Jason Mittell, 2015-04-10 A comprehensive and sustained analysis of the development of storytelling for television Over the past two decades new technologies changing viewer practices and the proliferation of genres and channels has transformed American television One of the most notable impacts of these shifts is the emergence of highly complex and elaborate forms of serial narrative resulting in a robust period of formal experimentation and risky programming rarely seen in a medium that is typically viewed as formulaic and convention bound Complex TV offers a sustained analysis of the poetics of television narrative focusing on how storytelling has changed in recent years and how viewers make sense of these innovations Through close analyses of key programs including The Wire Lost Breaking Bad The Sopranos Veronica Mars Curb Your Enthusiasm and Mad Men the book traces the emergence of this narrative mode focusing on issues such as viewer comprehension transmedia storytelling serial authorship character change and cultural evaluation Developing a television specific set of narrative theories Complex TV argues that television is the most vital and important storytelling medium of our time
