rather than principles of justice every state can and does grab what it can in the economic sphere on the basis of power and interest legally so and under colour of law This book examines how international law on trade and foreign investment and the law and norms on global finance has been shaped to benefit the rich and powerful at the expense of others It studies how a set of principles in the form of a New International Economic Order NIEO that could have laid the groundwork for a more inclusive international law without even disrupting its market orientation were nonetheless undermined As for international human rights law it is under the terms of global capitalism that human rights operate Before we can understand how human rights can create more just societies we must first expose the ways in which they reflect capitalist society and how they assist in reproducing the underlying terms of immiseration that will continue to create the need for human rights protection This book challenges conventional justifications of economic globalization and eschews false choices It is not about whether one is for or against international trade foreign investment or global finance The issue is to resolve how if we are to engage in trade investment and finance we do so in a manner that is accountable to persons whose lives are affected by international law The deployment of human rights for their part must be considered against the ubiquity of neoliberal globalization under law and not merely as a discrete benevolent response to it
