Universal Remote Control Owner's Manual

RCR613ZW / RCR311WH / RCR311WM / RCR311BM / RCR411BM / RCR411BTN

Manual del Propietario (parte posterior)

Step 1: Install your batteries

Your universal remote requires two AAA alkaline batteries. Replace them when the range of the remote decreases or it stops working.

To install the batteries:

1. Remove the battery compartment door.
2. Install the batteries as shown in the diagram. Be sure to match the polarity (+ and -) symbols.
3. Push the battery door back into place.

Battery Precautions

- Do not mix old and new batteries.
- Do not mix alkaline, standard (carbon-zinc) or rechargeable (nickel-cadmium) batteries.
- Always remove old, weak or dead batteries promptly and recycle or dispose of them in accordance with local environmental regulations.

Battery Saver

Your universal remote is pre-set to save battery power by entering into a sleep mode if no key is pressed for more than 30 seconds. This saves your battery life and your code settings are saved. For optimum battery performance, use alkaline batteries.

Code Verification and Test Your Unit

Before you begin programming your remote, look up the code(s) listed for your brand of component. Write down the code(s) you intend to use. Then, after programming your remote, test each function (Power, Volume, Channel, etc.) to make sure it responds correctly. If it doesn't, repeat the programming steps with the next code listed for your brand. If you have problems, call RCA Customer Support at 1-800-336-1315 for assistance.

Tip: Most brands of universal programmable remotes require you to enter a code before they will control your components. Since you have the remote programmed to control your TV, you must enter a code before you can control your VCR, DVD player, TV/VCR combination, SAT/CABLE box or satellite receiver.

Step 2: Program your remote

To use this universal remote control, you must program it with a code. First, look up the brand code for the component you want to control. Then, enter that code into the remote using one of the following methods:

- The Auto Code Search method is the easiest way to program the remote. Simply point the remote at the component you want to control, press a few buttons, and it will automatically search for the correct code.
- The Manual Code Search method allows you to enter a code from the owner's manual or code list. Use this method if the Auto Code Search method does not work with your component.
- The Universal Code Search method is for those who do not have the owner's manual or code list and do not want to go through the Auto Code Search method. This method requires you to enter a code, press a button, and see if the component responds. If it doesn't, you repeat the process with the next code.

Auto Code Search

The Auto Code Search feature automatically finds a code for your component. Before you find the code that works with your device, you may have to try more than one code.

Tip: Most electronic components have a unique infrared (IR) code. If you program a code for your component and it does not work, try another code. Some brands may have multiple codes listed. For a complete list of codes, see the separate code booklet or register for convenient online access at www.rcaaccessories.com.

To program your remote using the Auto Code Search, press the SETUP key.

1. Turn on the device you want to control.

2. If you're programming the TV or SAT/CBL/DTV key, go to step 3.

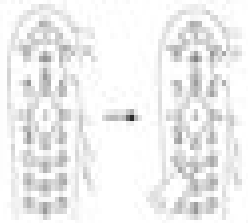
   If you're programming the VCR/DVD key, you must first set the remote to control the device you want to play back. Press and hold the VCR/DVD key. While you're holding down the VCR/DVD key, use your other hand to press the number keys for the type of device you want to control (see the table below). Then, release the VCR/DVD key.

Device	Press
VCR	1
DVD	2
PVR	3



3. Press and hold the device key you want to program. While you're pointing at the device, press and release the power button on the remote once.

4. Point the remote directly at the component you want to control. Press PLAY on the device and hold down the SETUP key. The indicator will blink 2 times, then stay on.

Does your device turn off?

YES: Go to step 5.

NO: Press PLAY again. The remote sends the next code in the series.

Keep pressing PLAY once every 3 seconds until your device turns off.

5. When your device turns off, press the SETUP key to lock in the code and exit Auto Code Search. The remote turns off. This could take up to 30 seconds.

Does your device turn on?

YES: Press the SETUP key. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

NO: Press SETUP again. The remote starts the next code in the series.

Keep pressing SETUP every 3 seconds until your device turns back on. When it does, press SETUP.

Note: If you've pressed more than 40 SETUP key, you've passed your code. Press the SETUP key. Then, start over at step 3 and enter the code directly (see page 2).

NOTES

- Some older devices may not respond to Auto Code Search. If you've tried all the codes listed for your brand and Auto Code Search doesn't work, try the Universal Code Search method (see page 2).
- Each time you press a key on the remote, it sends the next code in the series. Be sure to point the remote directly at the device and press each key only once. Allow 3 seconds between each code.
- If you have more than one device of the same type (for example, two VCRs), the remote may control both devices with the same code. If this happens, try to find a code that controls only the device you want.
- If you have a TV/VCR combination, you may have to enter two codes to control both the TV and VCR.
- During the Auto Code Search, the remote ignores keystrokes that aren't part of the search.
- The search times out after two minutes. The VCR/DVD key blinks five times to let you know. Start over at step 1.
- To exit the Auto Code Search at any time, press the SETUP key. The remote will remember the last code it sent, so your device stays turned on or off.
- The VCR/DVD key blinks four times and turns off when the remote has gone through all the codes. The remote goes back to your code number if your device hasn't turned off yet. Try a different brand number.

Testing the Code for Maximum Functionality

1. Try a few buttons on the device to make sure they work correctly. If some buttons don't work, go to the next step to try a different code.
2. Repeat the Auto Code Search method for the component by setting your device to turn off. If it is not responding correctly, start over and repeat the procedure from step 1 to search for another code that works for your device.
3. Enter the code for your VCR or DVD player (see RECORD key on the remote) and then press the VCR/DVD key on the remote. Point the remote at your VCR or DVD player and press the PLAY button. If the VCR or DVD player starts playing a videotape, the code you entered is correct. If the VCR or DVD player does not respond correctly, try another code.

Manual Code Search

The Manual Code Search lets you enter a code from the owner's manual or code list. Use this method if the Auto Code Search doesn't work with your component.

To program your remote using the Manual Code Search:

1. Turn on the device you want to control.
2. Press and hold the SETUP key until the indicator blinks 2 times, then stays on. Release the SETUP key.
3. Enter the code for your component using the number keys. The indicator blinks 2 times when you enter the correct code.
4. Point the remote directly at the component you want to control. Press PLAY on the device and hold down the SETUP key. The indicator will blink 2 times, then stay on.

Does your device turn off?

YES: Go to step 5.

NO: Press PLAY again. The remote sends the next code in the series.

Keep pressing SETUP every 3 seconds until your device turns off. When it does, press SETUP.

5. When your device turns off, press the SETUP key to lock in the code and exit Manual Code Search. The remote turns off.

Does your device turn on?

YES: Press the SETUP key. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

NO: Press SETUP again. The remote starts the next code in the series.

Keep pressing SETUP every 3 seconds until your device turns back on. When it does, press SETUP.

Note: If you've pressed more than 40 SETUP key, you've passed your code. Press the SETUP key. Then, start over at step 3 and enter the code directly (see page 2).

NOTES

- If you have more than one device of the same type (for example, two VCRs), the remote may control both devices with the same code. If this happens, try to find a code that controls only the device you want.
- If you have a TV/VCR combination, you may have to enter two codes to control both the TV and VCR.

- The VCR/DVD key blinks four times and turns off when the remote has gone through all the codes. The remote goes back to your code number if your device hasn't turned off yet. Try a different brand number.

Testing the Code for Maximum Functionality

1. Try a few buttons on the device to make sure they work correctly. If some buttons don't work, go to the next step to try a different code.
2. Repeat the Manual Code Search method for the component by setting your device to turn off. If it is not responding correctly, start over and repeat the procedure from step 1 to search for another code that works for your device.
3. Enter the code for your VCR or DVD player (see RECORD key on the remote). Then, press the VCR/DVD key.
4. Load a tape, press any buttons on your device to start playback, then press the PLAY button on the remote. Does the tape start playing on your device?

Does your device turn off?

YES: Press the STOP key to store the code. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

NO: Press ONE/OFF again. The remote starts the next code in the series.

Keep pressing ONE/OFF every 3 seconds until your device turns off. When it does, press STOP.

NOTES

- If you have more than one device of the same type (for example, two VCRs), the remote may control both devices with the same code. If this happens, try to find a code that controls only the device you want.
- If you have a TV/VCR combination, you may have to enter two codes to control both the TV and VCR.
- During the Manual Code Search, the remote ignores keystrokes that aren't part of the search.
- The search times out after two minutes. The VCR/DVD key blinks five times to let you know. Start over at step 1.
- To exit the Manual Code Search at any time, press the STOP key. The remote will remember the last code it sent, so your device stays turned on or off.
- The VCR/DVD key blinks four times and turns off when the remote has gone through all the codes. The remote goes back to your code number if your device hasn't turned off yet. Try a different brand number.

Direct Code Entry

If you know the 4-digit code for your component, you can enter it directly into the remote. Refer to the code list in the owner's manual or look up the code on the RCA website at www.rcaaccessories.com.

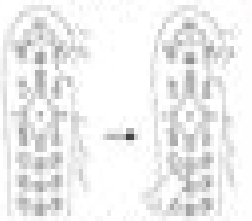
Tip: Most devices require you to enter a code before they will control them. For example, if you have a TV/VCR combination, you may have to enter two codes to control both the TV and VCR.

The VCR/DVD key controls one component at a time. To control a second component, you must program a code for it.

1. With your TV on, press the SETUP key. The indicator blinks 2 times, then stays on.

2. Find the 4-digit code for your component in the owner's manual or code list. Press the number keys for the code. The indicator blinks 2 times when you enter the correct code.

3. Point the remote at your component. Press the VCR/DVD key. Then, press the POWER key. Does your component turn off?



YES: Press the STOP key. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

NO: If You Entered Your Code and Turned Off: Your code is not correct. Repeat step 1 using a different code. If you've tried all the codes listed for your component, see the Manual Code Search section.

4. When you're finished entering the 4-digit code, press the SETUP key. Then, press the VCR/DVD key.

If the VCR/DVD key is:

ON: Skip to step 5. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

OFF, it blinked four times and turned off: Your code is not correct. Repeat step 1 using a different code. If you've tried all the codes listed for your component, see the Manual Code Search section.

NOTES

- Remember to enter the code for more than one component in the Code Memory section of this manual.
- If you forget which device the code for, use one of the Code Memory worksheets to program the remote correctly. Refer to the one you entered most often for reminders.
- If you replace the remote, you have to program the new remote. Using the Code Memory worksheets, you can enter the codes for your components quickly and easily.
- Use the remote with the device in order to code for the correct device. For example, if you have a TV/VCR combination, you must use the TV key to code for the TV functions. If you have a DVD player, use the DVD key to code for the DVD player.

Manual Code Search

The Manual Code Search lets you enter a code from the owner's manual or code list. Use this method if the Auto Code Search doesn't work with your component. Before you begin, look up the brand code(s) listed for your brand of component. Write down the code(s) you intend to use.

To program your remote using the Manual Code Search:

1. Turn on the device you want to control.
2. Press and hold the SETUP key until the indicator blinks 2 times, then stays on. Release the SETUP key.
3. Enter the code for your component using the number keys. The indicator blinks 2 times when you enter the correct code.
4. Point the remote directly at the component you want to control. Press PLAY on the device and hold down the SETUP key. The indicator will blink 2 times, then stay on.

Does your device turn off?

YES: Go to step 5.

NO: Press PLAY again. The remote sends the next code in the series.

Keep pressing SETUP every 3 seconds until your device turns off. When it does, press SETUP.

5. When your device turns off, press the SETUP key to lock in the code and exit Manual Code Search. The remote turns off.

Does your device turn on?

YES: Press the SETUP key. You're done! Try a few buttons to be sure.

NO: Press SETUP again. The remote starts the next code in the series.

Keep pressing SETUP every 3 seconds until your device turns back on. When it does, press SETUP.

Note: If you've pressed more than 40 SETUP key, you've passed your code. Press the SETUP key. Then, start over at step 3 and enter the code directly (see page 2).

NOTES

- If you have more than one device of the same type (for example, two VCRs), the remote may control both devices with the same code. If this happens, try to find a code that controls only the device you want.
