3. What are the transitions provided for a company that is listing in conjunction with an initial public offering ("IPO")?

A company must be in compliance with all of the requirements of Section 303A as of the date the company's securities first begin trading (as far as applicable) or when issued on the NYSE (the "listing date") unless a transition period is provided. Section 303A provides a transition period for, among others, a company listing in conjunction with an IPO. Specifically, Section 303A requires a company listing in conjunction with an IPO to have:

- At least a majority of independent members on its board within one year of the listing date (if Section 303A.01 is applicable);
- At least one independent member on its nominating committee and at least one independent member on its compensation committee by the start of the date the IPO commences its first business days from the listing date; at least a majority of independent members on each committee within 90 days of the listing date and fully independent committees within one year of the listing date (if Sections 303A.02 and 303A.03 are applicable);
- At least one independent member on its audit committee that satisfies the requirements of Securities Exchange Act Rule 10A-2 ("Rule 10A-2") and, if applicable, Section 303A.02, by the listing date; at least a majority of independent members on its audit committee within 90 days of the effective date of its registration statement and a fully independent audit committee within one year of the effective date of its registration statement (Section 303A.05);
- At least one member on its audit committee by the listing date; at least two members on its audit committee within 90 days of the listing date and at least three members on its audit committee within one year of the listing date (if Section 303A.07(a) is applicable);
- Its nominating, compensation and audit committee charters, corporate governance guidelines and code of business conduct and ethics available on or through its

Legal Capital in Europe Marcus Lutter, 2006 Europe has known very different systems of company laws for a long time These differences do not only pertain to the board structures of public companies where single tier and two tier structures can be distinguished they also pertain to the principles of fixed legal capital Fixed legal capital is not a traditional ingredient of English and Irish company law and had to be incorporated into these legal systems only for public limited companies according to the Second European Company Law Directive of 1976 Both jurisdictions have never really embraced these rules Against this background the British Accounting Standards Board ASB and the Company Law Centre at the British Institute of International and Comparative Law BIICL have initiated and supported a study of the benefits of this legal system by a group of experts led by Jonathan Rickford The report of this group has been published in 2004 Its result was that legal capital was costly and superfluous hence the Second Directive should be repealed The British government has adopted this view and wants the European Commission to act accordingly Against this background a group of German and European company law experts academics as well as practitioners have come together to scrutinise sense and benefits of fixed legal capital and all its specific elements guided by the following questions What is the relevant legal concept supposed to achieve What does it achieve in reality What criticisms are there Which proposals or alternatives are available From the outset the group of experts has endeavoured to cooperate with foreign colleagues which resulted in very fruitful and pleasant exchanges This volume contains besides an executive summary of the results 16 essays on specific aspects of legal capital in Germany covering also neighbouring fields of law e g accounting insolvency 7 reports on fixed legal capital in other jurisdictions France Great Britain Italy the Netherlands Poland Spain and the U S A addressing the same questions as the essays on German law The British initiative disapproves of the Second Directive The Directive does only deal with public limited companies in Europe which is reflected in the analysis presented here It is only concerned with the fixed legal capital of public limited companies not with capital issues of private companies The study has arrived at a result that differs completely from that of the Rickford group It verifies the usefulness of the concept of fixed legal capital and wishes to convince the European Commission of the benefits of the Second Company Law Directive
