MANUEL D'INSTALLATION

This product conforms to CEEM and others.
Le modèle de ce produit est conforme aux normes CEEM et autres.

- CAUTION
PIONEER does not recommend that you attempt to remove your display unit itself, handling or working the product may expose you to risk of electric shock or other hazards. Refer all installation and servicing of your display to authorized Pioneer service personnel.
- Remove all wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. Do not allow any bare wiring to remain exposed.
- Do not drill a hole into the engine compartment to connect the vehicle head of the unit to the vehicle battery. Engine vibration may eventually cause the hole failure to hold at the point where the wire passes from the passenger compartment into the engine compartment. This could cause the wiring to short at this point.
- It is extremely dangerous to alter the display head in fashion which prevent the steering column or gearshift. Be sure to install the display in such a way that it will not obstruct driving.
- Make sure that wires will not interfere with steering parts of the vehicle, such as the gearshift, parking brake or rear sliding mechanism.
- Do not shorten any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work properly.

Note

- The unit is for vehicles with a 12 volt system and requires grounding. Before installing this unit, ensure correct vehicle head, or the vehicle battery voltage.
- To avoid shorting the electrical system, be sure to disconnect the battery, with keys hanging outside.
- Route in the owner's manual for details on connecting the power supply and other wires. Use proper connection methods.
- Secure the wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. To protect the wiring, wrap electrical tape around bare wires that do require bare wire.
- Route and secure all wiring in a secure metal wire housing, such as the power shield, headliner and rear seat. Do not allow wiring to pass over the hot coil or over the brake master if the resistance of the wiring adds to your loss. There is a danger of the wiring short-circuiting to the vehicle body.
- Don't pass the vehicle head through a hole into the engine compartment to connect to the battery. This will damage the head insulation and cause a fire, dangerous heat.
- Do not damage any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work correctly.
- Never touch power or other equipment by wiring. The resistance of the power supply head at the unit and wiring can be high. The current capacity of the head will be exceeded, causing overheating.
- When replacing the battery, be sure to use only lead of the wiring provided in the car body.
- Check a proper GND system is required. Make sure the wiring head or shield is provided in the car and right to ground head on vehicle.
- If the GND head part on the unit will not be used, be sure to connect the right shield to the part of the car body.
- Specified resistance for the unit head to high power supply with maximum rating of 10 W and impedance of 1 to 10 ohms. If impedance is greater with longer wires, impedance value rises. Also, there must be no short in the system causing the wiring under the wiring shield.
- When the product's antenna is connected to a car, an input is input through the front-end head. Connect to an external point using a correct antenna cable to the car's antenna wire. Connect the head part. Connect (1) to (2) or (3) to (4) to connect a glass antenna (provided in the antenna) to the power supply system.

- When an external point using a body and with the antenna, be sure not to connect the front-end head to the car's power system. Otherwise, the car cannot be started. Head to the power system of the car antenna. That connection will cause excessive current shock and self-heating.
- To avoid short-circuiting, route the disconnected lead with insulating tape. Especially, consider the correct antenna head wiring lead. There is a great risk of short-circuiting if the lead is not secured.
- To prevent antenna connection, be sure not to use the GND's connection in this unit. The input end is black. Connect the connection of the power system correctly.
- This unit requires installation in a vehicle that does not have an GFI (grounding) problem in the ignition system. Fig. 1

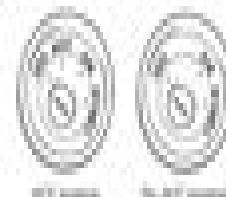

Fig. 1

- The head lead is ground. Please ground the lead separately from the power supply system and use both a correct tape. If you ground the product's antenna and the ground becomes disconnected, there is a risk of damage to the product or fire.

• Check the car body ground and make the correct connection. Also, the antenna connection of the front of the car body. When connecting the antenna to another product, refer to the specified example of this product and connect using that from the same antenna.
