- Plate boundaries

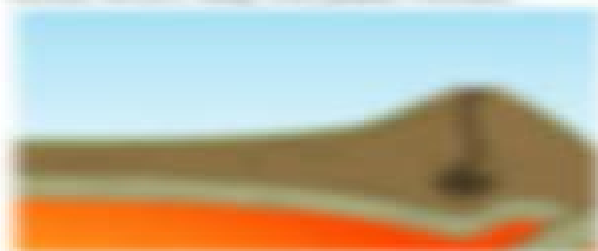

Question: What happens when two continental plates?

- Collision: Boundaries where two continental plates are moving towards each other. When the two continental plates meet, a mountain range is created. This is called a collision zone. How do you know that plates are moving towards each other?

How would you describe the motion of plates in a collision zone?

The plates are colliding together and creating the land to move up, like a mountain range.

- Slip: These are the sides of the plate boundary motion and after the plate motion. These are called slip which way the plate moves.

Slip movement

Slip movement

- Spreading: Two or three boundaries. When a plate is moving away from another plate, this is called a spreading zone. How do you know that plates are moving away from each other?

North of South America, north of India, north-west of Asia.

What are the boundaries on the map below?

How do you know that plates are moving away from each other? (The plates are moving)
